Contingent Expenses of the State Department—Judge Nelson's Successor Appointed—Republican Senator Elected in North Corolina.

WASHINGTON, December 3, 1872.

CONTINGENT EXPENSES OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

The report of the Secretary of State on the contingent expenses shows that during the fiscal year ending with June last the contingent expenditures for foreign intercourse and missions amounted to nearly thirty thousand dollars. Three hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars were paid to satisfy the Hudson's Bay and Puget Sound indemnity. Two hundred and ninety-two dollars were paid B. C. Davis as bearer to England of the Alabama Treaty. The treaty case cost five hundred and eighty-two dollars, and the freight on it was seventy-eight dollars. The aggregate cost of cable telegrams was six thousand six hundred dollars.

REPUBLICAN SENATOR ELECTED IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Senator John Poole addressed the following telegram to a gentleman here in an official position:

Raleigh, N. C., December 3.—We have defeated the Democratic Legislature by electing Merrimon. It breaks up the power of the Democrats, and brings a valuable and controlling element in the State over to the administration. Our friends are rejoicing over the victory.

ATTENDING MR. GREELEY'S FUNERAL.

The President will be accompanied to New York, to attend the obsequies of Horace Greeley, by his Private Secretary, General Babcock, and by Secretary Belknap and Postmaster General Cresswell, and probably by other members of the Cabinet. Mr. Boutwell will be prevented by public business from attending the funeral. The President returns to Washington on Thursday morning.

JUDICIAL CHANGE.

The resignation by Associate Justice Nelson of his judicial position was received yesterday, addressed to the Secretary of State. The President accepted the resignation, and appointed Ward Hunt, of New York, as Judge Nelson's successor. The nomination will be sent to the Senate to-morrow or Thursday.

CABINET MEETING.

The usual Cabinet meeting was held to-day. All the members were in attendance. The session was very short.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, December 3, 1872.

OPPOSITION TO MAYOR HAVEMEYER.

The Post states upon good authority that the friends of Mayor Hall and some Republicans who did not enter heartily into the late campaign in favor of reform in the city government and the election of Mayor Havemeyer, have about perfected a plan by which they hope to neutralize the triumph of the reformers. The plan is for the present objectionable city officers to resign, and Mayor Hall to fill the vacancies with Republicans unconnected with the late ring, and who may have influence at Albany to prevent hostile legislation, so that the offices may be beyond the control of Mayor Havemeyer. The Post adds that the scheme contemplates the defeat of all reform legislation at Albany, including the new charter.

DISHONESTY OF A BANK PRESIDENT.

William Moffitt Graham, President of the Wallhill National Bank of Middletown, N. Y., was held in $20,000 bail to-day to answer a charge of having jointly with Charles H. Horton, cashier, defrauded the bank by means of false entries of some $100,000. Horton, it is alleged, has absconded, and Graham claims to have been ignorant of his peculations.

PAYMENT ORDERED.

In the case of Charles T. Chester, to whom the city still owes $400,000 for putting up the fire alarm telegraph, Judge Fancher has granted a peremptory mandamus directing Comptroller Green to pay the money.

TRIAL OF MURDERERS.

The trial of King for the murder of O'Neil commences on Monday, and that of Scannel for the murder of Donohue will begin on Friday.

TWEED'S CASE ADJOURNED.

In the Tweed case, court adjourned until Thursday. The argument was not concluded.

THE OLD WORLD.

GREAT BRITAIN.

PRESS COMMENTS ON PRESIDENT GRANT'S MESSAGE.

LONDON, December 3.—Abstracts of President Grant's speech are published in the morning papers. The Times says it will be read with interest, although so largely devoted to domestic affairs. It is full of confident authority and placidity, and, in the enjoyment of assured success, disregards minor motives.

The Daily News hopes that General Grant's attention will hereafter be more occupied with reform of the civil service than the acquisition of San Domingo. The News thinks the people of the United States are ready for a new departure in the administration of their affairs, and the present session of Congress will be especially interesting to those who watch for indications of coming party progress.

The Times, alluding to that part of the message which treats of the rebellion in Cuba, doubts that the abolition of slavery in that island would end the feud between the Cubans and Spaniards.

FRANCE.

QUIET RESTORED.

PARIS, December 3.—The determination of Thiers, made known to his Cabinet, not to resign, has had a quieting influence. The country is now tranquil.

POLITICAL.

Meeting of Ohio State Electors.

COLUMBUS, O., December 3.—The electors for President and Vice President assembled at the Executive Department at nine o'clock this morning, and were called to order by Governor Noyes. A temporary organization was effected by appointing John C. Lee, of Toledo, Chairman; Alphonzo Hart, of Ravenna, Secretary, and Henry C. Morton, Clerk. After appointing a Committee on Rules the electors took a recess until 11½ o'clock. Upon reassembling the electors adopted rules, and adjourned until 9 A. M. to-morrow.

Meeting of New York Electors.

ALBANY, N. Y., December 3.—The Presidential Electors met to-day. General Stewart L. Woodford presided. He addressed the convention briefly, stating the object of the meeting. He said the convention gathered under a cloud of sorrow, for one who was a competitor for the position we are about to contribute towards filling lies silent in death. The shadow of this sorrow will make this gathering memorable forever, and with this shadow over us, it is to be hoped that the one upon whom your choice will fall to-morrow will so conduct the affairs of his office as to be the President of all the people and for all the people.

Adjourned till to-morrow.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BEAVER VALLEY.

The Weather—Improvements in the Valley—Rapid Growth of Beaver Falls—The New Hall—Prof. G. M. Fields—The Epizootic—Fowls and Thanksgiving—Sympathy and Thanks.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BEAVER VALLEY, Nov. 30, 1872.

THE WEATHER.

Old Boreas in the fullness of his strength is upon us, and the quick, decided step of the pedestrian, is proof positive of his power on the corporeal man. The chilling blasts and prospective snow in the scattered flakes given us, suggest plainly indoor labor and sports, and the cessation of long continued outdoor labor. Among our business men, there is a tendency already to hug the cheering warmth of comfortable fires.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Nothwithstanding the cold snap, we yet find some good substantial buildings, either under way or in process of completion.

Nearly all of our towns are displaying a very commedable spirit in this direction. Fallston's merchant prince, James Duncan, Esq., one of the best business men, and kind hearted, progressive gentlemen in our valley, is building an extensive business house in Beaver Falls, for the use of his increasing business in that thoroughly live and go-ahead little city. Mr. Duncan has in Beaver Falls a large dry goods store, run by his son Ira and Jas. Perrott, Esq., two excellent young men of fine business ability, under whose management their trade has driven them to the building of a commodious house. It will be a success in every way.

Other buildings are being put up in the Falls, among which we notice some recent additions in the cutlery works and erection of dwelling houses on the Ross extension.

BEAVER FALLS.

It is well known, I presume, that Beaver Falls is not yet six years old, and though for a time its growth was of not a remarkably substantial one, though an extraordinary rapid one, and the town seemed at one time in danger of being seriously retarded in its growth, by reason of reaction from its high state of excitement, yet it is pleasurable to see that it has passed the dangerous period, and there is no town in western Pennsylvania of equal size, which has a more flattering prospect before it. It seems now in process of commencing its new growth, which will be a substantial one. Two first class new bridges are in process of building across a little stream running through the town, which under the spur of heavy rains or thawing snows, bounds out of all propriety and sweeps everything in its reach, to the rapids of the Beaver.

Indeed a commendable spirit of improvement seems to have again taken hold of the people which it is earnestly hoped, may carry them to the summit of prosperity.

Our energetic young friend, Frank A. Barker, Esq., in charge of the banking house of Barker & Co., in Beaver Falls, has nearly completed a new dwelling house on Bridge street, New Brighton. It is a creditable improvement to the town, and speaks well for Frank in providing such a cosy retreat for himself and better-half, and adding to the numerous charms of this really beautiful town, a residence in itself so pleasing to the eye.

Broadway has an addition nearly completed, of one of the finest and best business houses in Beaver county, built for James Baxter, Esq. It is a decided improvement to this, and would be of many towns in our eye, of more pretension than New Brighton.

NEW HALL.

I have heretofore failed to make mention of the new Hall lately erected on Broadway street, and which deserves at least fair notice. It is styled Broadway Hall, and is equal in point of comfort and convenience to any hall, in any of our sister boroughs. It is well seated, splendid facilities for heating and ventilating. The stage is well fitted up and the Hall suitable for any class of performances, lectures, etc., usually given our public. Its capacity was well tried and its acoustic qualities well tested during the late campaign when Hon. H. B. Swoope held an audience of 1000 persons, entranced by his eloquence, and the vindication of Republican principles, &c. It is hoped that the gentlemen who built the Hall, may be amply recompensed for their enterprise and business venture, and that our people may be treated to many mental and moral repasts from the hearts of our great men, in this home enterprise.

PROF. G. M. FIELDS.

The benign and serene face of our highly esteemed friend Prof. G. M. Fields, for some days past, has assumed a more genial form than even its wonted expression, and a halo of genuine good humor and supreme contentment with the world in general, has surrounded the Prof. In his associations with his fellow man. Being a little out of the ordinary path for so much pleasantness to be centered in one of earth's mortals, your correspondent, under the high conviction of journalistic duty, interviewed the smiling Prof. and learned to his own pleasure that a partnership in a seventy-five barrel oil well had fallen to his lot, and that visions of palatial residences, costliest viands, etc., had been snugly cornered in his brain, with the absence of the responsibilities of teaching young ideas how to shoot resting upon him, or the cry of copy that dimly fell upon his ear, as he fain would court the arms of Morpheus, as he sat in the prospective sanctum which yet we hope to see him fill. Ah, how many of us in our goodly little city of olden renown, have fondly dreamed of the flowing wells that prospectively rose before our enchanted eyes, and after all the labor and discouragement, our friend has reaped the first fruits of what we trust may prove a harvest to the balance of us. May the sweet vision never be dispelled from the placid mind of the Professor, but may it be a fuller reality than even now, until he shall be constrained to cry, "hold, enough."

THE EPIZOOTIC.

We have got it, that is those of us who walk on four legs, and we have it bad. We had faintly hoped to see or hear none of it in our neighborhood, but now the plaintive notes of the boy of the period, may be heard sententiously crying out, as he espies a crestfallen specimen of the equine race, "zoot"! and the cry of "zoot" is heard in the land. But really the thing is becoming serious. Coal running up like Fahrenheit in dog days, and your model daughter entertaining your neighbor's son until day break,—why the thing begins to assume huge proportions, not however that your correspondent is suffering from a model daughter or any daughter; not at all. Our livery stables have begun to look like hospitals and wear a semi-delapidated look. The popular livery stables of James Edgar, of New Brighton, and Joseph Darling, of Beaver Falls, have become pretty thoroughly epizootized, but their patients are receiving every attention. No two men can be found who better understand horse nature than Messrs. Edgar and Darling, and the consequence is that they will suffer no more than a temporary loss of business. Let us hope that an impetus to business may be vouchsafed them on the recovery of their horses.

A friend of mine says that the epizootic is a judgement on us for horse racing. I would very humbly suggest, Messrs. editors, that you put your theological editor on this track and search the hidden cause of this trouble, if it may be so.

THE FOWLS AND THANKSGIVING.

We cannot have any visible (or edible) Thansgiving either, for the fowls are sick. We've got the "henfluenza" too, and what's to become of us mercy only knows. The chickens are falling on the right hand and on the left, and we are threatened with chicken famine, but a glorious hope is given us in our extremity, that next summer's gardens will show a greater net profit of vegetables than heretofore.

SYMPATHY AND THANKS.

But while we sympathize with our brothers, suffering from floods on the eastern continent, from fire in Boston, from loss on account of the suspension of business from horse disease, there is left us the most profound cause of gratitude unto "Him who doeth all things well," that no epidemic has devastated the land, and especially in our lovely little Beaver Valley, that neighbors who looked into each other's eyes one year ago, can now clasp hands and raise a common anthem to the "Holy one," that He has vouchsafed us life, peace, plenty and happiness in each other's society.

VENICE.

Is there Anything Good in Venice—Singing Association—Literary Societies—Epizootics—Corn Huskings—Poor Milk—Union Farmers' Club—Interesting Discussion on Sheep Husbandry.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

VENICE, WASHINGTON COUNTY, November 28th, 1872.

VENICE.

It was asked of old, can any good thing come out of Nazareth, and the answer was, "Come and see." Of late years the question is, "Is there any good thing in Venice?" We reply in the affirmative—and say further, come and see for yourselves.

Our little town has enlivened up greatly during the last six weeks. First we have a

SINGING ASSOCIATION

Organized on the evening of the 14th, officered as follows: President D. T. McClay; Vice President, William Hagan; Secretary, W. T. Cook; Janitor, E. A Thompson, Teacher, Prof. McGugin.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

We have two Literary Societies. The Union, and the Pleasant Hill. The Union takes the lead, and from the way that some of the young bloods, splurge on debate, one would suppose that there was some danger of them "busting their bilers."

EPIZOOTICS.

The epizootics is raging in all directions. The late name for it here is the hippodams. Very few cases have proven fatal.

CORN HUSKINGS.

Corn huskings are all the go; country hoedowns and millered gents give spice to the same.

POOR MILK.

Our cows are giving rather poor milk of late. One of our young swains was out at a tea party a few evenings since and he says that the cream would have made a cow blush to think that her name was used to cover so abominable a fraud.

UNION FARMERS' CLUB.

The Union Farmers' Club met according to announcement, on the evening of 26th. There was a large attendance. The minutes of the former meeting were read and approved.

The Corresponding Secretary reported that he had opened a correspondence with the Agricultural Department at Washington City, and had received a list of questions which he had answered.

On motion, remarks on wheat culture was postponed, and sheep husbandry, or best mode of wintering sheep, was discussed.

The discussion was opened by J. B. Kelso. He also showed a model of a rack, called the Economical Rack. This rack is in general use in this neighborhood and considered to be the best ever introduced. The original rack was made by Benjamin Kelso, of South Fayette township, Allegheny county, and for simplicity and cheapness has no equal. He was in favor of the flat trough for feeding grain.

M. H. Borland thought the subject was closely allied to the financial interests of farmers. He treated under the following heads: 1st, That of having sheep in good condition in the fall. 2d, That of shelter; said his experience was that sheltered sheep gave greater yield of wool, and took less grain and hay. 3d, Manner and regularity of feeding. 4th, The quantity of fodder. 5th, Salting—time of and quantity. 6th, Racks. He agreed with J. B. Kelso.

Wm. Berry's plan was to prepare by summer feeding—feeding well for some ten days after shearing for the purpose of aiding the sheep to throw out, eke, and then feeding a less quantity every day. He agreed with M. H. Borland on graining sheep regularly, and found by experience that the sheep came out in the spring the better of it. He was in favor of sheltering—thought that humanity and profit demanded it.

James A. Little's plan was to select out the thinnest sheep and confine them by themselves. He was also in favor of graining sheep heavy and feeding straw. Occasionally thought that the health of the sheep demanded the change. He thought it a good plan to have a small stock of wheat or oats or straw where each flock could have free access to it. He used the Economical rack.

William McPeak was in favor of sheltering; thought the sheds ought to be built on high ground. (Our views in regard to this are as follows: In building a sheep shed, the site should be handy to running water, and in as sheltered a spot as possible. And if the ground is not dry it should be drained.)

William Hagan thought that the wool was given to the sheep for protection, and, therefore, did not need shelter. This was in direct opposition to the views of the other members of the club—and, we think, also in the views of every progressive wool grower.

Rev. Bruce was present, and made some interesting remarks. Paid the club quite a compliment—thought it the Banner Club. Now, how is this for high—a farmer's club, still in it's infancy, and yet a Banner Club—but it is the truth—we're go ahead.

Club adjourned to meet second Saturday of December, at one o'clock P. M. Subject for discussion, "Best Breeds of Sheep," to be opened by William Berry.

BROWNSVILLE.

Thanksgiving Day—Its Observance—Deaths—Accident—Cold Weather—Hack Line &c., &c.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BROWNSVILLE, November 30, 1872.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thanksgiving day was generally observed by the suspension of business of all kinds. Services appropriate to the occasion were held in all the principal churches.

DEATHS.

George W. Shallenberger, an esteemed citizen of Bridgeport, died Nov. 18, of consumption. He was about thirty-eight years of age, and leaves a family consisting of a wife and two children. Mrs. Fitzsimmons, a very aged lady residing in West Brownsville, died Nov. 23.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.

An accident occured last Monday, resulting in the shooting of Thomas D. Hoover through the right fore-finger. He and another gentleman were out gunning, and in their anxiety to capture a rabbit, the gun of his companion was accidentally discharged.

COLD WEATHER.

Work on the new bank building is suspended on account of the severe weather. A few more stinging cold days, and the river will be closed and Brownsville an inland town once more.

HACK LINE.

Newlon's hack line from Uniontown to Washington via Brownsville, is again running, the horses of this line having recovered from the epizootic.

COAL MERCHANTS.

The coal merchants are delivering coal to their customers with oxen, and at the old prices. By refusing to take advantage of the panic caused by the horse disease, in puting up prices, they are entitled to the respect of the entire community.

B.

THE STATE.

THERE are now ten lodges of Odd Fellows in Indiana county, located as follows: Indiana, Cherrytree, Blairsville, Marchand, Horton, Saltsburg, Marion, Jacksonville, Plumville and Cockport, with a combined membership of six hundred.

As a Mrs. Howey was carrying a dinner to her husband, near Pocono Switch, Monroe county, on Thursday last, walking on the track, she was struck by a passing locomotive, and instantly killed. She leaves a husband and five small children to mourn her sad and sudden death.

THE residence of Samuel Sherwin, near West Monterey, Clarion county, together with all the household goods, was destroyed by fire one day last week. The grown members of the family were all absent, and before any of the neighbors were attracted to the place the fire was too far under way to be subdued. Nothing was saved but one trunk and its contents.

A BARN on the farm of Anthon Batteiger, in Greene township, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning. The barn contained over three hundred bushels of oats and a quantity of hay. The entire loss will reach about one thousand dollars. The fire originated by the careless use of matches in the hands of some children who were playing about the barn.

IT has been reported and printed in nearly every paper in Western Pennsylvania, that a murder had been committed at Petrolia City, Butler county, by a man named Casey. This is false and there is not the least particle of grounds for such a sensation. Casey, who is supposed to have killed a man named Parker is at Petrolia City now, and Parker is working on a well near Butler.

THE Warren and Venango Road completed its track into Titusville on Wednesday last, and the rolling stock will soon be rumbling through the country, a complete line to Buffalo. The company has purchased sixty acres of ground of Jonathan Watson, located on the flats, near his residence, which will be the site of the buildings of the company, including the depots. Regular trains will be running in a few days. This road will open up a new line of traffic through a country which has heretofore had no outlet.

ON Thursday, Nov. 21st Mr. Robert Barr, a resident near Hoge's Summit, Somerset county, met with an accident which, in a short time, resulted in death. He was with his team at the Crouch coal bank, near the Presbyterian Church of Pigeon Creek, and whilst his wagon was being loaded, his horses became frightened; in attempting to check them by taking hold of the lines, he was struck by the lever of the lock, to which the lines were attached, and fell before one of the wheels of the hind carriage. The wheel passed over his breast, crushing and mangling him most dreadfully. He was taken to a house near at hand, and died about two hours after the accident. It is a remarkable fact that he had two brothers killed under almost similar distressing circumstances.

ON Tuesday, Nov. 26th, a sad accident occurred in Mercer county by which William Robison, aged eighteen years, son of Hon. David Robison, was fatally wounded. It appears that he, in company with a younger brother and a son of Mr. John Gibson, were out hunting in what is known as the hog back woods, near Frampton's saw-mill, and were in the act of crossing a fence, when by some means one of the guns was discharged, the entire charge entering the corner of his mouth and lodging near the base of the brain. His companions were so badly frightened that instead of going to his assistance they ran for help quite a distance, while the wounded boy was left lying on the ground for an hour and a half before assistance arrived. He was then carried to the house of Mr. John Sample, where he lingered until about 7 o'clock in the evening, when death ended his sufferings.

THE Freeport New Era says the grandfather of the Fleming family, Mr. Thomas Fleming, of Butler county, who died some years ago, did in the year 1801 catch a land tortoise and cut "T. F., 1801" on it and started it on his journey again, and like Dr. Livingstone, is still travelling. It was seen about two weeks ago by one of the younger Flemings and looked as hearty as ever. It had lived fully three score years and ten, and has, apparently, never been off the farm, which contains about three hundred acres. He generally made it a point to show himself once every two or three years. We think he is justly entitled to a pension, as he cannot travel much longer, although they have been known to live to a very great age, one hundred years or more. They spend the winter in a dormant state and feed voraciously in the summer. Darwin supposes them to be originally a native of the Galapage Islands, and have been diffused from them by the buccaneers over other regions. Tortoise exhibit very little intelligence; they are however capable of recognizing the hand that feeds them.

THE poet Campbell says that he once heard a lady of distinguished beauty and rank defend Sir Thomas Lawrence from the charge of having been culpable in paying attention to ladies without intending to follow them up by an offer of his hand. A gentleman remarked that Sir Thomas was highly blameable. "No," replied the lady (it was rumored she herself was once the temporary object of the great painter's attentions), "no, not exactly—not so much to blame," said she musingly. "What!" exclaimed the gentleman, "you astonish me! Not to blame for such conduct?" "No, not so much," was still the musing response. "Can you really, madam, defend such behavior as desertion?" "Why, sir," interrupted the lady, "to confess the truth, I am firmly of the opinion that the majority of women would rather be courted and jilted, than not to be courted at all."

The Remains Lying in State.

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS.

Thurlow Weed's Sorrow.

TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD.

Preparations for the Funeral.

DR. CHAPIN'S CHURCH DECORATED.

NEW YORK, December 3—Noon.—City Hall Park has been jammed with thousands of people since nine o'clock, endeavoring to view the remains of Horace Greeley lying in state in the Governor's room, and although the crowds filed by at a wonderful rate, there seems to be no diminution in the throng pressing forward, which runs back for squares. No such universal testimony of public esteem has been shown since the time Lincoln's remains lay in state here. Flags are everywhere at half mast, and crowds are arriving by the trains and steamboats from the adjacent cities. City Hall is draped in mourning, and over the main entrance hangs the inscription, "We remember, with pride, his busy life."

Many distinguished citizens from abroad have arrived to join in the funeral ceremonies. The courts will adjourn over to Thursday.

The Committee of the Society of Dr. Chapin's church, in view of the large numbers who will attend the funeral of Mr. Greeley, have decided to issue tickets for admission to the church. The order of services comprises addresses by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Dr. Chapin.

The list of pall-bearers to officiate at the funeral, it is understood, includes the names of Vice President Colfax, Secretary Boutwell, William Lloyd Garrison, Chief Justice Chase, Charles Sumner, William Cullen Bryant and one or two of the Tribune attaches. It is also stated that General Banks and Thurlow Weed will be among the pall-bearers, the latter at his own request.

The citizens of Brooklyn have already started subscriptions to raise twenty-five thousand dollars to erect a monument to the memory of Horace Greeley.

It is estimated that the funeral procession will be over two miles long.

A regiment of cavalry will act as an escort to President Grant to-morrow. There will be no music in the procession.

Editors of newspapers throughout the country are requested to mail to Ezra Cornell, at Cornell University, Ithica, New York, copies of their papers containing eulogies or other articles upon the death of Horace Greeley, to be comprised in a memorial volume for the library of said University, of which the deceased was one of the Trustees.

The New York Associated Press to-day adopted resolutions of sorrow at the death of Greeley, one of the original proprietors of the institution, eulogizing his life and labors, and expressive of sympathy with his orphaned children.

The scene at City Hall this morning has had no parallel since the day the dead body of Abraham Lincoln lay within its walls. The building itself had a sombre and mournful appearance, with flags at half mast, pillars enfolded in black serge, festoons of the same material drooping over the portico and entraming the windows. On the balcony, shrouded in mourning emblems and heavy folds of the United States banner, is the portrait of Horace Greeley. Below is the inscription, "We remember with pride his busy life."

The body of the dead journalist arrived at City Hall as early as eight o'clock. It was borne there in a simple hearse, attended by an escort of honor. The coffin, in the presence of comparatively few spectators, was carried to the Governor's room, and placed upon a temporary bier. The coffin was black, with heavy silver handles. At the head was a portrait of Greeley as he appeared in life, and a large chaplet of tuberoses. The lid bore the inscription "Horace Greeley, born February 3, 1811; died November 28, 1872," and was ornamented with festoons of natural fern leaves. At the head was a second inscription, "I know that my redeemer liveth," and yet another at the foot, worked in violets, "The city mourns our loss." Greeley lay with his left arm lying by his side and the right across his breast. His face was terribly emaciated and worn, utterly unlike that which his daily companions have been accustomed to see. His appearance was that of a man who had, after terrible sufferings, succumbed in a prolonged fight with the combined forces of mental and bodily anguish.

Although the preparations for receiving the public were not completed until ten o'clock, as early as eight o'clock the square in front of the City Hall was occupied by thousands of men, women and children, intent upon taking a farewell look at the face of the departed. Everywhere the utmost decorum prevailed. There was no jostling, no tumultuous haste to obtain advantageous positions. A hush prevaded the entire assemblage, and each face wore a look of intense sadness. The multitude was formed in line and filed up two by two into the room where the body is lying in state. One of the first men to approach the coffin was General John A. Dix. Among the many distinguished gentlemen in the room was Thurlow Weed, one of the oldest friends of Greeley. The old man sat near the head of the body, and seemed pleased to be questioned concerning the life and character of the deceased. He said he could not remember that Greeley ever referred to any youthful amusement. They had been young men together, and as such were often in each other's company. Everybody, said Weed, has hours of relaxation, but Greeley never played. I was as poor as he, and had the battle of life to fight as he had, and yet I always took relaxation. You see we were of different temperaments. Looking back over Greeley's life, I think he showed as much unselfish ambition as any man that ever lived. His whole life was given to opposing injustice and oppression. His character was perfectly pure, for he had no vices that I knew of, and I was most intimate with him in all matters. He was fearless in the expression of his belief in what was right. His whole aim was to do good.

When Weed approached the casket he leaned over the body and gazed long and earnestly into the face of his former associate. He seemed deeply affected by the scene, and after looking at the features of Greeley for some time he leaned on the shoulder of a friend and left the room.

As the multitude filed by with heads, each was allowed a sufficient time to view the dead. Many showed a disposition to lag behind, despite the whispered admonition of gentlemen in charge that there was "no time to lose." There were many ladies who showed signs of emotion, some stopping to kiss the forehead of the deceased.

As the dinner hour of the working classes approached, the crowd awaiting admittance to the chamber of death became enormous; laborers who came down town in their working clothes to get one last look at the face of their cheery old friend; working girls of all ages came from their factories and stores, and they were very properly allowed to pass in before the men, who were obliged to stand in line and await their turn. A passage was made in this way for all persons who were accompanied by ladies. Families, evidently from the country, came together, and the old folks could not restrain their tears as they looked on the face of the man who had, as it were, lived in their hearts for half a lifetime. It was also a noticeable fact that many negroes, both men and women, were in the line.

The stream of people anxious to gaze upon the features of the dead continued undiminished until ten o'clock this evening, when the Governor's room and City Hall were closed. Propably fully fifty thousand persons viewed the body, and many thousands did not even reach the steps of City Hall, the line extending blocks away.

Messrs. J. B. Stewart and Edward T. Carpenter were present as representatives of the family of the deceased, and at their request it is said these gentlemen intend to request Mr. Sinclair to allow the body to rest in the vestibule of the church to-morrow, so that ladies and others who have not been able to visit City Hall to-day, may have an opportunity of seeing the face of him whose name is now on every lip.

In the official programme for the obsequies, it is requested particularly that those having charge of the church and fire department bells toll them from one o'clock P. M. until the close of the procession, at three P. M. It is also requested that the houses along the route may be draped in mourning.

The route of procession will be through Eighth avenue to Fourteenth street, Fourteenth street to Broadway, and Broadway to Hamilton Ferry.

The draping of Dr. Chapin's church is being rapidly completed. The large arched entrance to the church from the street will be heavily draped with black muslin, looped up with heavy crape rosettes. The vestibule is also hung with muslin, and immediately over the door leading to the centre aisle will be suspended a large sized portrait of the departed, which will have around it a deep border of crape. The interior of the church will be profusely draped with black cloth and crape, no white being used, with the exception of flowers. From the centre of the arched roof are hung broad folds of cloth festooned to the capitals of the pillars by large and massive crape rosettes. The front of the galleries will be also hung with black cloth, and the pillars, of which there are six on either side, will be wound round with the same sable emblems of woe. The pulpit, altar rail, and the whole of the handsome wood work appertaining thereto, will be handsomely draped with crape, while from the carved pillars on either side of the pulpit, or reading desk, will be raised an arch composed of ivy, immortelle, tuberoses and other white flowers, bearing in its centre the words: "I know that my Redeemer liveth," wrought in crimson flowers. In front of the pulpit will be the motto, "It is done," worked in flowers, with a ground of white tuberoses, lillies and camelias.

The catafalque will be composed of rich black velvet, profusely strewed with flowers and vines of ivy, and the steps directly in front of the altar will also be covered with the handsomest floral decorations that loving hands and hearts can furnish.

It is said that a number of ladies of the Tribune Association have signified their intention to present a magnificent floral offering in the shape of an arch which will stand nearly six feet from the ground, and bearing a suitable inscription or motto. Around the church will also be hung appropriate texts, while the organ will be completely covered with mourning drapery. The pew lately occupied by the illustrious dead has been appropriately dressed in crape, while from the wall is hung a heavy festoon of crape caught up by a heavy rosette of the same material, and to-morrow will be placed in addition thereto vines, white roses and ivy, which will be gracefully entwined and fall to the seat, where will be also strewed a profusion of flowers.

SYRACUSE, December 3.—A large meeting of citizens was held here last night to express sorrow at Horace Greeley's death. The Mayor presided, and appropriate resolutions were adopted, and it was ordered that they be engrossed and sent to the family of Mr. Greeley. A committee was appointed to select an orator to deliver an oration upon the deceased.

Accident to the Steamer R. C. Gray.

EVANSVILLE, December 3.—The R. C. Gray, after getting off the Henderson bar last night, struck a pile of logs below Alrees' Bluff, and at ten o'clock last night lay in a sinking condition near Abbott's Landing, across a log, out of fuel, and with two inches of water over the floors. Capt. Grammer thinks he can save her if he gets fuel in time. The Jessie goes not to New Orleans, but to the Red River.

—The court house, or Republican, branch of the Alabama Legislature, unanimously elected Spencer, as United States Senator. The capital, or conservative branch, adjourned without nominating.

—Three laborers were buried by the caving in of a sewer excavation in Brooklyn on Monday. One was killed outright; the other two died after being dug out.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—JUDGE MCKENNAN.

The case of Roderick F. Clow, of New York, vs. the Derby Coal Company, which has been on trial for several days was concluded yesterday, so far as the testimony and counsel arguments were concerned, and to-day the Court will charge the jury. This case presents some interesting features. The plaintiff was a capitalist in New York, in 1866. In that year the Derby Coal Company was formed, the lands of which were in Pennsylvania. The brilliant prospectus of the company was not fully realized and as a result their agent a Mr. Davidson was authorized to go upon the street and borrow money to tide over the financial stress. Mr. Davidson literally followed this instruction gathering wherever he could, and finally winding up by disappearing with a great deal more than his salary—an amount not far short of $100,000. Among those whom he had borrowed money from was Mr. Clow, who in the aggregate gave him about $23,000, which with the interest increased the claim to $27,000, which is the amount involved in the suit. As the money had been lent in New York and the Coal Company's operations are in the Western District of Pennsylvania suit was entered in the U. S. Court here, and a legal tussle, which has attracted considerable attention, was commenced. The plaintiff rests his claim on notes, given, and in the fact that Davidson was the agent of the company. The defence, as an offset, claims that Davidson borrowed the money in dispute, of Clow, on his own personal responsibility, and that the company had no benefit of it. A large number of witnesses have been heard. The case all the way through has been made, by the attorney to bristle with legal points, and the result will be looked to with interest. Mr. M. W. Acheson and Hon. H. B. Swoope appear for plaintiff, and George Shiras, Esq., for the defence. A verdict will likely be rendered to day.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—JUDGE M'CANDLESS.

In the Bankruptcy branch Judge McCandless appointed John H. Bailey, Esq., as assignee of Duncan Keith, of Freeport, a bankrupt. The creditors could not agree upon an assignee, and the court relieved them from further trouble.

On petition of the Second National Bank of Titusville, James T. Brigis was adjudged a bankrupt, and the case was referred to Register Rogers.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

MAYOR BLACKMORE disposed of Twenty-six common, and two work house cases yesterday.

A WARRANT has been issued by Mayor Callow for the arrest of Michael Burns, charged by Robert McKenny with an assault with a deadly weapon.

ALDERMAN SMITH, of Allegheny issued a warrant for the arrest of Frederick Siemflier and son, charged by Samuel Hellber with an assault upon his minor son.

PUGNACIOUS JOHN KANE will rest his limbs at Claremont during this month and January. Mayor Blackmore says that will pay one hundred dollars to offended justice.

JOHN DENEAUR for disorderly conduct and Charles Baker for vagrancy, will luxuriate at the work house during the next thirty days. It was Mayor Callow who sent them there.

KATE KANE the espouse of worthy "John" will leave the jail on Friday morning. Mayor Blackmore sent her there yesterday for attempting to assist her husband in blacking more eyes than was thought prudent.

HENRY ROBINSON, whose wife keeps a boarding house on Wylie street, was sent to the Work House for thirty days yesterday by Mayor Blackmore on complaint of his wife, who charges him with being a perpetual drunkard and abusing her.

SOME time since Mr. W. J. Miller, of Townsend street lost a quantity of bedding. Among the articles was a quantity of feathers sewed up in a sheet, valued at some forty dollars. Officer Wylie discovered them in a secondhand store on Wylie street, where they were recovered.

JOHN HARBAUCH made information before Mayor Blackmore, yesterday charging John F. McCurry a policeman of Allegheny, with a felonious assault, in discharging a loaded revolver at him, at a row that occurred at a ball somewhere on Liberty street, opposite the depot about three weeks ago. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Since the above was written we have learned that the two men were recaptured last evening by some citizens this side of Freehold who had some suspicion of them. They were taken to this city where they were recognized immediately. They were at once locked up, and are safe at the Work House with a good prospect of staying their unexpired term, as a pretty close watch will be kept upon them this time.

ANOTHER CHOICE.

The Second U. P. Church, Allegheny—A Pastor at last Selected—Prospects for a Final Settlement.

Last evening another Presbyterian congregation in Allegheny swept clear of its troubles in relation to the selection of a pastor and finally reached a conclusion. The spiritual fold in question was that of the late Rev. Dr. Clark, Second U. P. church, corner Sandusky street and Stockton Avenue, Allegheny. Several times within the last year the members of this organization have endeavored to make a selection, and once or twice succeeded, but in every instance some obstacle intervened and they were left where they commenced. The necessities of the case however inspired them with determination and success at last was achieved.

The meeting last evening—the call for which had only been announced the previous Sunday was held in the lecture room. The attendance was very good, and though not as large as upon some previous occasion, yet very fairly represented the membership of the church.

Rev. G. A. Martin, member of the session was called upon to preside, and Messrs. Wm. Witherow and James Richey chosen Secretaries.

After the usual devotional exercise, and a statement from the chair of the purpose of the gathering, a vote was taken to decide whether all were agreed to go into an election, which was decided affirmatively. It was further fixed also, that no candidate should be declared selected unless he received a two-third vote of those present.

Nominations being then in order, Rev. W. H. McMillen of Xenia, Ohio, was the only person named, and a vote being taken resulted in 104 votes being cast, 86 of which were in his favor and 18 against. He was thus chosen by the requisite two-third vote with 17 votes to spare. On motion the selection was made unanimous—or at least nearly so—one determined female startling the audience by voting in a stentorian way, "No," which elicited laughter.

A brief discussion then ensued upon a point of church law in reference to moderating the call, but finally the matter was settled by the passage of a resolution calling the meeting for next Monday evening. Messrs. Witherow and McCracken were appointed to notify Rev. Mr. Witherspoon of the need of his services on that occasion, and after congratulatory addresses from Messrs. McCracken, Dean and others on the harmony which had prevailed, the meeting adjourned.

The gentleman thus chosen is comparatively a young man, but is highly spoken of wherever he has been, as an earnest pastor and faithful minister, and one who has always been successful.

Thus gradually Presbyterian ecclesiastical machinery in Allegheny is getting into working order again; the First, Second and Central churches are at last settled, and the turn of the Third comes next, and then the vacant places will be filled, and all the folds provided with shepherds.

A Fine Church Library.

Among the new attractions which have just been added to the Second U. P. Church Allegheny is a library especially for the use of the young men and young women of the church. The nucleus of the library was obtained through a bequest of $1,000 left by Mr. Thomas Gordon, formerly a young member of the church, who died recently. By the provisions of the bequest, the young people each year were to add not less than $25 worth of books to the list, as a source of supply to keep it up. The books purchased by the bequest were subject to the approval of the session, and have thus been selected with great care, the money being so judiciously expended that over eight hundred standard volumes were procured. To these have been added others, so that the Library when thrown open will number one thousand books, every one of which is of the best class. By the terms of the bequest the officers of the Pastors Aid Society were made managers of the Library and the affair therefore this year will fall into the hands of the following board: President—Mr. Hugh McKee, Vice President—Mr. J. F. Parker, Secretary Mr. John R. Thompson, Treasurer—Mr. J. F. Neeley. The Library is certainly a most commendable enterprise and when in full working order can hardly fail to be one of the most attractive features in connection with the church.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1872.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112⅜@112½.

APROPOS of the various schemes to revive our Commercial Marine, the New York Herald proposes the repeal or suspension of our navigation laws, so that our merchants may obtain vessels wherever they can obtain them cheapest and best. This is a very excellent suggestion, as it embodies the idea of allowing commercial affairs to rectify themselves without outside interference.

MR. SUMNER has called up again his Civil Rights bill, which ought to be allowed to pass without opposition or delay. There are certain results that follow logically the emancipation and enfranchisement of the colored race, and the sooner they are recognized the better. The idea of the Civil Rights bill is to make the colored people equal, in public privilege, to others. It must pass, sooner or later, and the less contest over it the more agreeable it will be to all concerned.

WE ONCE heard a lecturer who defined and illustrated "Mental Dispepsia." Judging from its editorial department the Post is afflicted with that disease. There was not an editorial in yesterday's issue, that did not contain a snarl at something. It snarls at papers who speak good or ill of Mr. Greeley, snarls at the President's message and Secretary Boutwell's report, snarls at the city journals because it can not manage to dictate topics for their discussion. It now had better snarl at the laws of nature, and then go croaking to its den. A snarling paper is just as interesting and agreeable as a snappish puppy.

THE railroad litigation in New Jersey, between the Pennsylvania Railroad and certain opponents of the lease under which it is working the Jersey roads, has just reached a very important point, which the New York papers claim is likely to end in the annulment of the lease. They are all, however, decidedly favorable to such a result. The points of the litigation are briefly as follows: Under an act of the New Jersey Legislature permitting the lease of the roads in that State within the State, or elsewhere, the roads were leased to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for 999 years, and the necessary assent of two-thirds of the stockholders of the Jersey roads were obtained thereto. Some of the stockholders who refused their assent alleged that the lease was void, as not having been perfected with the formalities required by New Jersey law, and the decision just rendered is that this allegation must be tried, the Court below having refused to enter into the question. Upon the result of this trial the validity of the lease rests, but it is not unlikely special legislation will be secured this winter at Trenton, covering as far as possible, all defects.

AS THE TIME for the assembling of our State Legislature draws on apace, it begins to be manifest that there will be unusual interest taken in its proceedings. Aside from the fact that it will elect a United States Senator, is the other very important circumstance that it may be the last time that body will be allowed to indulge in special legislation. Hence those who have little schemes of their own to carry through, or plans for corporations to manage, will be on hand in force. All and everything that may be thought desirable to meet present and future demands, must be attended to this winter. The inauguration of a new Governor, and the rush for the offices, will also contribute to make Harrisburg the Mecca of a vast number of political pilgrims, who will be interested in one event or the other. With so many fruitful sources of attraction it is hard to see why the Harrisburg Telegraph should be so wrathy over the removal of the Constitutional Convention. As a mere question of public policy, we doubt the wisdom of the removal; but our Harrisburg cotemporary shows a vim in its hostility that leads us to imagine that the glory of Harrisburg is uppermost in its thoughts. In this view it need have no fears, as other attractions will fill the Capital with strangers.

A CHANGE in the time of holding the State election from the second Tuesday of October to the last Tuesday after the first Monday of November, the day of the Presidential election—will probably be incorporated in the amended constitution of this State. It is very generally favored by the press of the State on the score of convenience and economy. Besides Congress has passed a general law directing the holding of Congressional elections in the various States, after a certain date in November. It does not go into immediate effect so as to enable certain States to make their constitutions conform to it. Under this law, we will have November elections in any event every two years in Pennsylvania, and the October election had better be abolished. In the Presidential year, the concentration of public interest, and the active political influence of the whole country, in the determination of the October election in this State, is not exactly favorable to the exercise of the best judgment of the people in the choice of local and State officials. We are favored [illegible] manner beyond our deserts and [illegible]es, and the people can very well do without the extraordinary demonstrations from without our borders in exchange for a more quiet canvass. Results will be about the same, and there will be a great saving in the way of money and excitement. A change of all judicial elections in the State, from the fall to the time of the town elections in the spring, is another modification of our election laws that is likely to be made.

THE FRENCH SITUATION.

The latest telegrams describe the situation in the French Assembly as very critical, and the resignation of M. Thiers as impending; but this they have done every day for a week past. A combination of the conservative Republican and monarchical factions in the Assembly was formed about the middle of November, and the President warned that he must pursue a conservative course, or he would lose their support. The events that followed included a declaration from M. Thiers that while he personally favors a constitutional monarchy, yet "a monarchy is impossible," and the only hope of France was a conservative republic. On this the battle seems to have been fought out, and the government on Friday last carried by a vote of 370 to 334 a proposition for the creation of a committee of thirty whose duty it shall be to prepare a law regulating public powers and prescribing the conditions of ministerial responsibility. On Saturday the Assembly, acting on the decline of ministerial responsibility, passed a resolution declaring that Mr. Le Franc, Minister of the Interior, in receiving and encouraging addresses from the municipal councils endorsing the Thiers Government, had violated the laws of the country. This was passed by a vote of 305 yeas to 297 nays, showing the close division of parties. Mr. Le Franc immediately gave way, and the other ministers also resigned in a body, but M. Thiers accepted only the resignation of Le Franc. The vote as above induced the President to again threaten to resign, an item that is getting somewhat stale; but he reconsidered and remains in the executive chair.

The project of the Committee of Thirty will bring up the stormy question of the best permanent government for France. The plan reported by the majority will be modelled after that of the American Republic, with the addition of ministerial responsibility, as in England. M. Thiers was anxious to retain the right to participate in debates—he is the ablest Parliamentarian living—but this was not conceded, and the veto power given in its stead as a compromise. A Parliament is provided for: one branch elected by universal suffrage, and the other by the Department Councils, somewhat after the model of the American Senate. These are the promised features of the report of the Committee of Thirty. It will at once solidify parties in the Assembly, the Conservative Representatives and Monarchists on one side, and the Legitimists, Bonapartists and Radicals on the other, united for the common purpose of destroying the moderate form of government proposed, and advancing their own parties in the anarchy that would ensue. It will be a sorry day for France should this combination succeed.

POST MASTER GENERAL.

Synopsis of his Report.

The ordinary revenues of this department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1872, including revenue from money order business, were $21,915,426 37, and the expenditures of all kinds $26,658,192 31. For the year ended June 30, 1871, the ordinary revenues were $20,037,045 42, and the expenditures $24,390,104 08. The increase of revenue for the year 1872 over the year 1871 was $1,878,380 95, or 9.37 per cent., and the increase of expenditures $2,268,088 23, or 9.29 per cent., showing a net increase of expenditures of $389,707,28. The number of new railroad routes put in operation within the year ending June 30, 1872, was 116, on which, as a general rule, temporary rates of compensation were fixed, not exceeding the maximum ($50 per mile per annum) allowed by law to roads of the third or lowest class, with the understanding that the pay should afterward be readjusted, if necessary, according to the grade of the service, to be shown by the usual returns. The net amount of fines, for the year, is $69,032 26. 77,670 new mail bags were procured, at a cost of $99,020 61. The transportation of European mails cost $220,301 70 for the year. Negotiations are nearly completed whereby the Postmaster General hopes that the transmission of mail matter will be so cheaply and promptly done, that no new treaties will be needed for a long time to come.

There are 2,275 money order offices, from which 2,573,349 money orders were issued, which aggregated $48,515,532 72,—in which fees were received by postmasters to the amount of $350,285 66. The repeal of the Franking Privilege is briefly argued,—it being argued that enough free matter has been carried through the mails during the current year to entirely overcome any deficiency in the receipts of the Department.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

A large portion of this report is devoted to the discussion of the propriety of the Government assuming control of the telegraph system of the country. He shows that this question was before Congress when the first telegraph was constructed, and favorably considered. The various phases of the question are ably discussed. Referring to the law of July, 1866, whereby the Government reserves the right to assume control of the lines in five years, he concludes that the time has come for the Government to assume control of the telegraph system of the country. Upon electing to do so, it will come into possession of 75,000 miles of lines, carrying 166,000 miles of wire. The cost of building these, including cost of patents, he places at $10,000,000, and thinks that the Government can duplicate the entire telegraph system for $11,880,000. He also enters into minute calculations to show that an average revenue of 33 1-3 cents per message will pay interest, establish a sinking fund, pay salaries and expenses, and afford a revenue to the Government.

POSTOFFICE SAVINGS-BANKS.

Postoffice savings-banks have been in operation in the United Kingdom since the 16th of September, 1861, and have steadily grown in popular confidence and favor. During the year 1871, the number of depositors increased 120,000, and the amount of deposits nearly £2,000,000. The total number of depositors is now 2,362,621, and the total sum standing to the credit of the postoffice £17,303,815, or about $84,000,000. These figures show conclusively the utility of postal savings-banks; and I renew my recommendation of last year for their establishment in this country.

POSTAL CARDS.

By the act of June 8, 1872, section 170, the Postmaster General was authorized and directed to furnish and issue to the public "postal cards," with postage stamps impressed thereon, for use as an additional means of postal intercourse, at a postage charge of one cent each, including the cost of their manufacture. Preliminary steps have been taken by me for furnishing and issuing these cards agreeably to the provisions of law; but, as no appropriation was made by Congress to meet the expense of their manufacture, and the department is prohibited, by the seventh section of the act of July 12, 1870, from involving the Government in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of appropriations made for each fiscal year, I was constrained to postpone their issue until a specific appropriation could be made. This course was taken in conformity with the written opinion of the Attorney General. An appropriation for this purpose is respectfully recommended.

A recommendation to increase the salaries of his assistants closes the report.

THE ARMY.

The Secretary's estimates for the year ending June 30, 1873, are $33,801,378, a decrease from the past three years. He says it has been found impossible, thus far, to reduce the force in the Southern States east of the Mississippi which were engaged in the war of the rebellion. About one-sixth of the army is still located there.

MILITARY LAW.

Proper places for the confinement of military prisoners are much needed. The want of such prisons has led, through the necessity of the case, to the designation, by the Department, of the different State penitentiaries as military prisons, and prisoners guilty of purely military offences are there compelled to associate with the vilest felons in the country, and subjected to all the humiliating and degrading disciplines of those institutions. Many men who might, under different treatment, again become useful soldiers, are thus yearly added to the criminal classes by the stigma of infamy attached to them, and the demoralizing influence of their prison associations.

More effective laws for the arrest of deserters from the army is recommended. Necessarily large discretion must be reposed in courts martial, as to the measure of punishment required by the demands of justice, in a vast number of cases brought before them; yet the opinion is entertained that the service would be greatly benefitted, and its morale increased, by the adoption of a code providing specific penalties for well-defined offenses, with a minimum and maximum limitation to meet first offences and the cases of persistent offenders. By the pursuit of this plan, it is believed the character of certainty of execution would attach to all sentences, adding largely to their corrective power, and relieving the Executive from the numerous applications for clemency that are now received.

NATIONAL CEMETERIES.

The 74 national cemeteries now contain the remains of 317,962 persons. All but 16 of these cemeteries have been permanently inclosed, or are being inclosed under contracts now in operation. The Gettysburg Cemetery has been transferred to the care of the War Department. The superintendents of national cemeteries have been classified with reference to the importance of their respective charges. There were 59 superintendents at the close of the year.

As legislation is needed in connection with the cemetery near the City of Mexico, it is recommended that a special act be passed placing this cemetery on the same basis with other cemeteries, with a duly appointed superintendent.

MEDICAL REPORT.

The monthly reports of sick and wounded received during the year represents an annual average mean strength of 24,101 white and 2,494 colored soldiers. Among the white troops the total number of cases of all kinds reported on the sick list was 47,575; the total number of deaths reported was 367. Among the colored troops the total number of cases reported was 3,514; the number of deaths from all causes reported was 54.

The Army Medical Museum continues to receive valuable contributions, which are at once properly prepared, mounted, and their histories entered in the descriptive catalogue. The number of visitors to it during the year was over 17,000, many of whom were in search of information not attainable in any other quarter.

WEST POINT ACADEMY.

The Secretary says that since his last report, there has been no breach of discipline or impropriety on the part of cadets calling for the exercise of higher authority than that of the Superintendent and Academic Staff.

The number of failures to master the academic course, including original rejections, were 87, the number of admissions, 95; the total number of cadets now at the Academy is 249. There are 53 vacancies. The standard of proficiency in the corps of cadets has much improved, but great obstructions to the usefulness which the Academy might otherwise attain in fitting scientific and highly educated young men for the public service is experienced because of the large amount of time necessarily expended in giving new cadets a thorough knowledge of the mere elementary branches of learning, which they should have acquired before entering the Academy.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

STRENGTH OF THE NAVY.

Secretary Robeson in his report makes the declaration that "without new material our cruising navy will soon pass entirely away." The navy now numbers 178 vessels, carrying 1,378 guns, exclusive of howitzers: 68 steamers, 929 guns; 31 sailing vessels of all classes, 322 guns; 51 iron clads, 127 guns; 28 tugs.

INTER-OCEANIC CANAL.

The Secretary thinks this the opportune moment to take into consideration the explorations of the American Isthmus, for ship canal purposes, and argues strongly in favor of such a work. Of the two expeditions sent out by the Government he says:

Commander Selfridge, who conducted the previous surveys of the Isthmus of Darien, is now engaged in completing the final exploration of that isthmus, between Panama and and the shoulder of South America.

Recent information favors the examination of the valley of the River Bojaya, lying some ten miles south of, and, in general, parallel to that of the River Napipi, already examined. This completed, the entire isthmus lying south and east of the line of the Panama Railroad will have been sufficiently examined to establish the relative difficulties of constructing a ship-canal, as well as the lines lying further south, between the River Atrato and the Pacific Ocean.

The expedition to Nicaragua, destined for a similar purpose, is engaged upon the work assigned to it. An unlimited water supply, at a summit of 106 feet above the main height of the ocean, presents too favorable a feature to forego a close examination of the whole region. A location from Lake Nicaragua to Brito, on the Pacific coast, is found to be more favorable than any hitherto known.

These two expeditions will probably close the surveys and explorations of all the possible routes of that part of the American Isthmus.

THE NAVIGATOR ISLANDS.

The Secretary recommends securing a coaling and supply station in the Navigator Islands in the Pacific, lying northeast of Australia. The native chiefs and people are well disposed, and exceedingly anxious to secure the benefits of our intercourse, and the recognition and countenance at least of our Government. The Secretary says: "I cannot forbear to say that if we are not prepared to ignore wholly the imperative commercial needs, as well as the splendid commercial opportunities of our Pacific States, and to yield also the opening avenues of Pacific trade to the comprehension and courage of more liberal, though more remote peoples, we should not neglect the opportunity thus afforded, at least to protect, if not to encourage some of the American interests which are there struggling to establish themselves."

TORPEDO SYSTEM.

The use of torpedoes, the Secretary states, is now established as a necessity of naval warfare. England, Germany, Austria, and even China are devoting much attention to their preparation and employment. This weapon seems to have an especial value to the United States. Our separation from the political complications of Europe produces a security which has resulted in notorious unreadiness to meet any sudden hostile emergency, which can come only from the sea, by an armed navy in proportion to our strength or to the extent of our coasts. A well-developed system of torpedo warfare would, to some extent, possibly to a large extent, meet this condition of unreadiness. Naval construction has not yet even remotely indicated any floating structure which can withstand the destructive power of the modern fulminate, skillfuly applied. While torpedoes are the cheapest of naval weapons, and within the means of the poorest nations, they are irretistible to the strongest and best prepared.

Torpedo warfare is still in its infancy; but it is the infancy of a most powerful development, and it is especially the policy of the United States to foster its growth as a weapon adapted to our situation.

The Secretary says the subject is not one proper for public illustration, but that the judgment of the most careful and experienced officers in our service is unanimous and strong in favor of the use of every means of enlarging and improving our knowledge of torpedoes, and of providing liberally for their investigation and use.

THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Secretary Delano deals at length with the Indian problem, and presents an array of facts which fully vindicates the policy which President Grant has adopted. Naturally, wisdom has been gained by experience, and better results are expected from that policy than have yet been attained. Mr. Delano further furnishes us with the gratifying information that the Patent Office is self-sustaining, and gives us a vivid reminder of the great struggle through which we have passed, in the fact that our pensioners number 232,229, and that their claims absorb $25,489,578 per annum.

THE INDIANS.

The policy of confining the wild tribes to smaller reservations is regarded as of the utmost importance; and carried forward to its full extent, will result in restricting them to an area of sufficient extent to furnish them farms for cultivation, and no more. The rapid disappearance of game from the former hunting grounds must operate largely in favor of our efforts to confine the Indians to smaller areas.

The Secretary says he cannot regard the rapid disappearance of the game from its former haunts as a matter prejudicial to our management of the Indians. On the contrary, as they become convinced that they can no longer rely upon the supply of game for their support, will they turn to the more reliable source of subsistence furnished at the agencies, and endeavor to so live that the supply will be regularly dispensed. A few years of cessation from the chase will tend to unfit them for their former mode of life, and they will be the more readily led into new directions, toward industrial pursuits and peaceful pursuits.

It is gratifying to be able to report the general and very encouraging success of the Indian policy. There is nothing in the sporadic incursions and outrages to weaken confidence in the final success of measures now in force for the treatment of the Indian tribes. So far from any change of policy being decided upon, or being indicated as necessary by the events of the year, there is abundant reason to take all proper steps to render the policy more efficient wherever it may be found necessary, and to extend it over tribes where it has not yet been established.

The aid and co-operation of the various religious associations of the country have been of the highest value. In no case has there been the slightest misunderstanding between them and the Department, and they have, in all cases, responded promptly to my wishes and suggestions. They are, without exception, doing all in their power to render the humane and peaceful policy of the Government as efficient as possible. In every missionary society having a part in this great work the Department recognizes a most valuable assistant, thus largely increasing the working force of the Government, and without expense.

If the policy now in force with regard to the Indians can be maintained and perfected until it reaches all the tribes now occupying our soil, I feel confident that it will result in the amelioration of their condition in every respect, make many of the tribes self-sustaining, elevate them morally and mentally, and greatly reduce the present expense of their maintenance. To effect this in the shortest time, it will be necessary to have the policy so clearly defined and established that it cannot be misunderstood, and to secure the completest co-operation of all the influences which have been invoked in its behalf.

PUBLIC LANDS.

During the year 11,864,975 acres were disposed of; 4,671,332 acres to homesteads, 3,554,887 acres to railroads, and 1,370,320 acres by cash sales. In all there was disposed of this year a quantity greater by 1,099,270 acres than was disposed of the previous year. The cash receipts, under various heads, amounted to $3,218,100. During the same period there were surveyed 22,016,608 acres, which, added to the quantity already surveyed, amounts to 583,364,780 acres, leaving unsurveyed an area of 1,251,633,620 acres.

PATENT OFFICE.

The number of applications for patents, including reissues and designs, during the year ended September 30, 1872, was 19,687; the number of applications for extension of patents, 284; the number of applications for the registering of trade mark was 589. During the same time there were issued 13,626 patents, 233 extensions, 556 certificates of registry of trade marks, and 3,100 caveats have been filed. This shows a small increase over the number of the preceding year. The fees received during the same period, from all sources, amounted to $700,954 86, and the total expenditures to $623,553 90, making the receipts in excess of the expenditures to the amount of $77,400 96.

It will at once be perceived that the addition of about twenty thousand applications for patents every year must greatly increase the work of the office. Over 200,000 applications for patents have been filed since 1836, and about 133,000 patents have been granted. The office is now being administered under substantially the same law and the same general organization adopted at its inauguration, when only from one hundred to five hundred applications were made per annum.

The office has outgrown the plan of organization that was sufficient for it then, and a new organization has become absolutely necessary to secure to inventors and to the country the benefits of our patent system.

The Commissioner urges the importance of a separation of the Patent Office from the Department of the Interior.

THE CENSUS.

The Secretary announces the completion of the ninth census. The recommendation made by the Superintendent for a census to be taken in 1875, the Secretary trusts, will receive the early and earnest attention of Congress. Such an account of the national numbers, wealth, and industry would form an invaluable catalogue and guide-book to the American sections in the International Exposition to be held in Philadelphia in 1876, as well as constitute a noble monument to the progress of the United States during the first century of its political life.

The additional reason urged by the Superintendent, that a census in 1875 would go far to secure the taking of the Federal census thereafter, at intervals of five years, has even stronger claims to consideration. It is unquestionably true that the interval at present established between the Federal censuses is too long for the proper information of Congress and the body of citizens as to the material condition, wants, and resources of the nation. No one will dispute this. In the present stage of political and social science, no intelligent person would, were the question a purely original one, propose a longer interval between the periodical enumerations of the country than five years. It is simply a question now, whether the constitutional provision shall be enlarged to meet the manifest requirements of this later time.

OTHER TOPICS.

The condition of the various land grant railways, the capitol extension, and improvements in the District of Columbia, make up the remainder of the topics discussed by the Secretary.

THE PENSION BUREAU.

NUMBER ON THE PENSION ROLLS.

There were upon the rolls, at the close of the present fiscal year, 232,229 pensioners of all classes, which is a net increase of 24,745 over the year 1871. This increase is largely due to the great number of survivors of the war of 1812, whose cases have been rapidly disposed of in view of the great age, and in many cases the poverty of the applicants. The whole roll is numbered by classes as follows:

Army invalids	95,405
Army widows and dependent relatives	113,518
Survivors war 1812	17,100
Widows of soldiers of same	3,027
Navy invalids	1,449
Navy widows and dependent relatives	1,730

In addition to these there have been increased by authority of several acts of Congress, 5,480 pensioners. An analysis of the roll develops the fact that the average pension of an army invalid is $90.26 per annum, while an army widow and dependent pension will average $128. In general terms it appears that the army invalid roll costs about one third, while the widows' and dependant roll costs two-thirds of the total annual cost of pensions.

EXPENDITURES.

The total expenditure for pensions for the past fiscal year was $30,169,341.40, of which sum the army invalids received $10,145,145.49; the navy invalids, $149,442.85; the widows and dependents of the late war, $17,466,156.02; widows of navy, $295,189.57; the survivors of the war of 1812, $1,977,415 84, and the widows of soldiers of said war, $335,993.65.

The report exhibits, with minute detail, at what agencies, and for what specific purpose, the whole amount was expended.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.

It is shown that under the acts of June 17 and 30, 1870, there have been issued 8,554 commutation orders in lieu of artificial limbs, and 1,248 bills have been approved and paid for limbs in kind.

THE FUTURE OF THE PENSION-ROLLS.

Some important facts and figures are given as to the future of the pension-rolls. It appears that in the war of the rebellion 2,688,523 soldiers served. Of these, only about 176,000, or but little over six per cent., have yet made claim for pension. The maximum for invalid claims was reached in 1866, immediately upon the close of the war. Thereafter, there was a general decrease in the receipt of claims, till the year 1869, when the percentage again increased, and at present exhibits no marked diminution.

After presenting at some length all the causes operating to increase and decrease of the pension-rolls, the Commissioner says: "It is not probable that any causes will operate to materially reduce the roll, or the expenditures, during the next four years, while more liberal legislation may increase both; and it is safe to predict that the amount required for pensions for several years to come, will approximate, if not exceed, $30,000,000 annually. We have reached the apex of the mountain, but it presents a plain of considerable extent, where there will probably be little fluctuation for several years."

BUREAU OF STATISTICS.

The Report of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics is a very interesting document. After a summary of the work of the Bureau during the past fiscal year, Mr. Young refers to the beneficial results following the general circulation in Europe of the special report on immigration authorized by Congress.

NUMBER OF IMMIGRANTS.

The total number of persons of foreign birth, who, in the year ending June 30, 1872, decided to make the United States their future home, is 494,869, an increase of 83,456 over the emigration of the fiscal year of 1871, of which 49,442 were males. The largest increase from any country was 58,555 from Germany, while from England the excess over the previous year was 13,234, and from Ireland 11,293. The increase from France was nearly 200 per cent., being 3,137 in 1871, and 9,316 in 1872. If the average of an emigrant, as stated by the Chief in the report referred to, be $800, the increment to our national wealth from this source in the past year amounts to $66,764,900, while the aggregate economical value of the total addition to our population reaches the sum of $823,844,800. Surely so large an addition to our material wealth will justify the expenditure of a few hundred dollars for the diffusion of such information as will serve to increase the volume of this tide of immigration.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

Synopsis of Commissioner Douglass' Report.

The aggregate receipts from all sources during 1870, 1871 and 1872 were $185,235,867.97, $144,011,176.24 and $131,770,946.73. These amounts include sums refunded and allowed on drawbacks.

SPIRITS.

The following is a comparative statement showing the receipts from the several sources under "spirits" during the fiscal years ended June 30, 1871 and 1872, with the increase and decrease from each source:

Sources.	1871.	1872.
Spirits distilled from apples, peaches or grapes	$1,236,005 67	$541,848 83
Spirits distilled from materials other than apples, peaches or grapes	29,021,308 48	32,572,918 16
Distilleries, per diem tax on	1,901,602 98	2,010,986 53
Distilleries, special and barrel tax	8,683,077 31	6,189,786 01
Wine made in imitation of champagne		20 00
Rectifiers	950,859 48	955,764 91
Dealers, retail liquor	3,651,484 73	4,028,604 93
Dealers, wholesale liquor	2,151,281 06	2,065,583 63
Manufacturers of stills	1,927 49	1,391 66
Stills or worms manufactured	3,240 00	4,290 00
Stamps, distillery warehouse	249,699 00	290,264 00
Stamps, rectifiers	374,723 00	367,434 00
Stamps, wholesale liquor dealers	151,036 00	139,602 75
Excess of gaugers' fees	13,693 20	4,118 55
Total	$46,291,848 10	$49,475,516 36

Aggregate increase, $3,183,668, or 6.9 per cent.

The number of distilleries (other than fruit) registered during the last fiscal year was	511
The number of fruit distilleries registered was	3,138
Total	3,649

Of the former, 458 were operated during the year, and of the others, 2,676.

The returns for the last fiscal year show a total production, in taxable gallons, from materials other than fruit	68,275,745
From fruit	752,788
Total yearly production	69,028,533

The commissioner recomends that Section 54, of the act of July 20, 1868, as amended by the act of July 6, 1872, be further amended, so that export bonds may be explicitly required of persons applying to export spirits for the benefit of drawback. Also, that when a distiller ceasses business, the pay of the storekeeper at his warehouse be reimbursed, the United States.

On fermented liquors, while concessions have been been made to those in business as brewers, the taxes have gradually increased. The tax received on fermented liquors at $1 per barrel during the first quarter of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1872, was $2,217,291.93, while the receipts from the same source during the first three months of the present fiscal year amount to $2,684,241, an increase of $466,949.07. The average increase for the three past fiscal years has been about a million dollars a year, but that during the first three months of this year far exceeds the past.

The commissioner recommends that the law relating to packages be amended to include "thirds," left out, he thinks, by inadvertance. He also regards the law relating to classes of dealers as ambiguous, and needing to be made more clear.

TOBACCO.

The total receipts from tobacco for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1872, were $33,736,170.52, and showing an increase in the total receipts from the manufacture and sale of tobacco in all its forms, over the receipts from the same sources for the preceding fiscal year, of $156,263.34. The quantity of manufactured tobacco represented by the collection of taxes from this source for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1872, is as follows:

	Pounds.
Of chewing tobacco, snuff, &c., class 32 cents	58,358,029
Of smoking tobacco, scraps, shorts, &c., class 16 cents	36,851,290
Exported to foreign countries	9,565,981
Excess in warehouse June 30, 1872, over June 30 1871	2,485,555
Total product for the year	107,260,855

The number of cigars, cheroots, &c., on which taxes were collected during the last fiscal year was 1,527,705,972. 1,431,892 pounds more tobacco was produced than during the preceding year, while only 73,815 pounds more were taxed.

The uniform rate of tax has worked well, and the Commissioner thinks there is no need of examining packages properly stamped. The law abolishing the warehouse system will be given effect at the time prescribed without hardship to any one. He thinks there should be no change in the law in regard to exportation of tobacco. A new die has been provided, by which stamps are so completely cancelled as that it is not reasonably possible to use them again.

ABSTRACT OF SEIZURES.

Most Important Notice.

We publish below the testimonial of Mr. James Irvin, one of our best known citizens, and a gentleman whose word may be confidently relied on, to the efficacy of Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup, a cheap medicine for coughs and recent lung diseases, which Dr. K. has prepared expressly to meet the thousands of cases that are heard coughing daily through our streets, every one of which could be cured in less than forty-eight hours, and at a cost of 75 cents. Who would cough through seventy-five hours at a cent an hour, when Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup is as sure to cure them as night follows day.

DR. KEYSER:—You have asked my opinion about your cough medicine, and I can cheerfully say that I have used your Pectoral Syrup on one occasion during last spring. I thought at one time that I was surely going to have some serious pulmonary disease, as I coughed up large quantities of matter. I found my disease would not yield to anything else, as I had tried various remedies and several of the best doctors without benefit. After the first dose of your Pectoral, I received quite a relief, and had I not used the whole bottle until I was entirely cured.

DAILY GAZETTE.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, December 3, 1872.

There are no noticeable changes in financial matters to report to-day. Borrowers still hope for the "good time coming," and the indications are that before the close of the year, their hopes will in some measure at least be realized.

The financial policy of the Government, as it is foreshadowed in the President's message and the Secretary of the Treasury's report, will be the same wise, careful and prudential course which it has been pursuing for the past three years with such marked success and which received such a hearty and unanimous endorsement at the polls.

The local elections transpiring in the several wards of this city to-day, make trade generally dull, and the policy pursued by some of our institutions styling themselves "banks," if generally followed, would in a very short time annihilate it altogether. We refer to the exorbitant rates of interest which some of these institutions demand for renewals. It is difficult to comprehend the short sighted and narrow minded policy which could induce a regular banking institution to take advantage of the necessities of a customer and demand eighteen per cent. for renewing a loan on paper which they know to be first class. Yet such an instance came to our knowledge to-day. The Legislature of Pennsylvania, in its wisdom, declared six per cent. to be a sufficient interest for money. Yet an institution chartered by that Legislature unblushingly demands eighteen. Such extortion is the offspring of a union of avarice and ignorance, and is worthy of its parent.

There is but little doing in local securities. In another column will be found the advertisement of fifty thousand dollars' worth of six per cent. bonds of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad, Turtle Creek Division. These bonds can be had of Messrs. McVay & Co., and would prove both a safe and paying investment.

The Philadelphia Ledger of Monday says: The money market on Saturday was without special feature or any marked change in rates. The reduction of the rate of interest by the Bank of England from 7 to 6 per cent. has had a favorable influence in the money centers in this country. The rate for first-class names was 12 per cent., and for loans on first-class collateral 10½ per cent. The demand continues active, but not more pressing than usual at this season of the year. On call the supply of money is easy at 6 to 7 per cent.

Money, after loaning at 1-16 per day, closed at 7 per cent. coin. Sterling quiet; 108¼@108¾ for long and 110@110¼ for short sight. Gold was rather quiet through the day at 112⅝@112⅞. Loans 2@4 for carrying. Clearings $29,000,000. Treasury disbursements, $26,000. The Gold Exchange adjourns at one o'clock to-morrow, in respect to the memory of Mr. Greeley. A committee attends the funeral. Governments quiet and firm. State bonds dull and steady. Stocks were quiet, dull and irregular all day; slightly firmer in the morning, but heavy in the afternoon. The movement in Pacific Mail seems suspended for the present. Harlem took a sudden jump from 115 to 119, and closed at 117 bid and 119 asked. The whole market, except Harlem, closed heavy, at the lowest prices of the day. The Stock Exchange appointed a committee to attend Mr. Greeley's funeral.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, December 3, 1872.

APPLES—We can report a steady demand and regular sales at $2@2,50 for common to fair, and $2,75@3 for prime to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—45@55 per gallon.

BEANS—$2,00@2,50 per bushel.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—$9 per bbl.

BUTTER—Prime to choice roll, in small packages, 27 to 30c, and in demand. Common and medium stock is in good supply and dull.

BROOM CORN—There is some little inquiry, but no change in prices; nice green corn may be quoted at 6½ to 7c.

CANDLES—Mould, 12; Stearine, 15; Star, 22.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands, 23¼@23½ for round lots, and 1@2 cts additional in a small way.

CEMENT—Louisville, 2,50@2,75 per bbl; Rosendale, $4@4¼; Calcined Plaster, 4@4¼.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged—the inquiry is mainly for prime Goshen, which is still quoted at 16½@17 cts.

CIDER—The arrivals continue small but the supply is fully equal to the demand, and prices remain unchanged; $5,50@6,50 per bbl.

CRANBERRIES—Sackett's and Carey's Belle Berries, $14 per bbl. common, $10@12.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$8 per case.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues quiet and prices are without quotable change; apples, 4 to 6 cts; peaches, (prime halves) 7 to 8 cts; blackberries, 12 to 13c.

DRESSED HOGS—5 to 5½c, and dull.

EGGS—Quiet and unchanged; fresh, 34 to 35; limed, 27 to 32, as to quality.

FLOUR—There is a continued good local trade and prices are firm, though without quotable change. We continue former quotations, $7,50@8 for spring wheat, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; and $8@8,50 for red winter. Rye Flour, $5,50.

GRAIN—There is considerable inquiry for wheat, and with a limited supply, prices are firm, but unchanged; $1,65@1,70 for good to choice red, and $1,80@1,85 for white—the latter is very scarce and sells quicker than the former in consequence. The mills here have commenced to look around for Wheat—heretofore dealers have been dependent mainly on the country mills to buy their wheat. Oats also firmer in consequence of diminished receipts and a light supply, and prices are a shade better; we now quote at 40@42 for good mixed to prime white. Shelled Corn, on spot, is in light supply, and some holders are asking an advance, we were reported a sale of one car at 59c—quotations may be given at 56@58c. Rye is firmer and higher, and we now quote at 85@90c, buying and selling. Good Spring Barley is selling at 90c, and prime fall is quoted at $1,00.

GROCERIES—Trade continues quiet and the market presents no new characteristics not already noticed. The tightness in money, rendering it very difficult to make collections, has curtailed business considerably, and there is not the same effort being made to expand that would be otherwise.

SUGARS—Granulated, 13½; Crushed, 13⅜c; Powdered, 13⅜; A Coffee, 12½; B, 12⅜; Ex. C 12¼; C, 12¼; Chespeake Ex. C., 12; Molasses Sugars, 8½@10; Porto Rico, 10¼@11; Demarara, 11¼@11¾.

COFFEE.—Choice Rio 23; Prime 22; Good 21; Fair 20; Java 25 to 26; Mocha 32. Roasted in lb. packages 25; loose 24½.

RICE—Carolina, 8¼@9; Rangoon, 7¼@8.

SPICES—Grain Pepper, 23; Allspice, 18; Cassia, 50; Clover, 35; Nutmegs, $1,25.

HAY—There is a continued good demand and prices are still tending upward; baled may now be quoted at $30@35 per ton, on track, according to quality—we were reported 2 cars at $34. There is very little coming in from the adjoining country, in consequence of the horse disease and bad weather combined.

HOMINY—$4,25@4,75 per bbl.

HONEY—35 to 40 cents per lb.

LARD OIL—No. 1 extra, is quoted in a jobbing way at 78@80c.

ONIONS—$2,50@3 per bbl.

POTATOES—Prime Peach Blows quoted steady at 70c in bulk by the car load, 75c sacked, and 80c in small lots.

POULTRY—Continues exceedingly dull, with a big stock, the bulk of which is a little stale, commission men are working it off as best they can—taking whatever they can obtain.

PROVISIONS—Prices have again declined. Plain Shoulders, 6½; Sugar Cured do, 8½; Clear Sides 10; Breakfast Bacon (rib) 10; do Clear, 11; Sugar Cured Hams, 16; Dried Beef, 18. Lard in tres, 9¼; half bbls, 10¼; buckets, 10¾; kegs, 10¾. Mess Pork, $15,50.

RAGS—Quoted at 3¼@3¾ cts.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 8 to 8¼.

WHISKY—Is quiet and unchanged; highwines 92@93 cts.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
TUESDAY, December 3, 1872.

Crude continues weak and considerably demoralized, and as compared with yesterday, prices at Parker, our main source of supply, have declined 20 to 30 cents per bbl, and the indications at this writing are that the bottom has not yet been reached. The pooling combination, to use a common phrase, has gone to pieces—it was this that caused the break; it should be understood, however, that the "agency system" is a separate and distinct organization, and had nothing whatever to do with the "pooling;" negotiations are still pending for perfecting the "agency combination" and it will require some considerable time yet before it can be got into working order—its friends seem to be very confident of its ultimate success. Refined is very dull, but prices are nominally unchanged.

Benzine is firm and higher caused by a large demand from the west; one concern in Chicago is said to have contracted here recently for some 2,000 barrels, and prices have advanced to $6,50@7 per bbl.

Oil Barrels quiet and unchanged; City make, $2,15; country, $2,10.

Dullness in the English Iron Trade.

The London Times, of Nov. 11th, says: The demand for South Staffordshire Iron has not been much improved by the recent reduction in price, and the general aspect of the trade is by no means satisfactory. As a rule the mills and forges are not working more than half time, while some few have been brought to a temporary stoppage. It is still affirmed that the distribution of large orders is being withheld, in the hope of placing them on yet more favorable terms. If this is really so, it is somewhat surprising that the two recent reductions, amounting altogether to £4 per ton, have not brought out at least some of the more urgent of these specifications. Current rates of the "list" houses are—bars, £12; hoops, £13; plates, £14; and sheet (singles), from £14 to £17 per ton. Second class makes show a reduction of £1 to £1 10s on these quotations, a good merchantable quality of bar iron is being offered as low as £12 10s per ton. The only business of importance doing in any class of finished iron is in the sheet department, some of the makers being very fairly supplied with orders. South Staffordshire pig iron is 5s to 10s per ton lower, but the nominal quotations remain on the basis of £7 to £7 5s. for best brands of native all-mine. The continued high rates for material and fuel prevent any important reduction in the quotations for pig iron. The yield even at present rates is in many cases attended with so little profit that the policy of blowing out furnaces for a time is being adopted by such leading firms as Messrs. Cochrane & Co, Phillip Williams, & Sons, David Rose, Addenbrooke & Co., &c.

Boston Leather Market.

The market for Leather is firm and very full prices have been obtained. The sales have been at 27@31c for Hemlock, Sole as a quality. One lot of 7,000 Buenos Ayres middling weight sold at 31c, 4 month, and 600 sides Buffalo at 25½c, 4 months. It is estimated that about 500,000 Sole and Upper has been lost by the fire. Upper Leather in Rough is in high demand, with sales at 35@38c for Hemlock, and 38@42c for Oak, as to quality. Calf Skins are quite firm. The quantity destroyed by the recent fire has been counted and amounts to 480,000. The sales have been at 75@85c for Rough and 95@$1,20 Finished. All kinds of finished Leather have been in fair request and very full prices have been realized.—Shipping List, Nov. 30th.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to rise steadily at this point, with five feet ten inches in the channel last evening; is was expected yesterday that there would be a barge rise to-day, say 7 to 7½ feet, and the indications, at this writing, are that these expectations will be realized. However, the weather is growing colder again, with wind from the west, and would doubtless freeze pretty sharply last night.

The Allegheny ice commenced to move yesterday afternoon—how far it has broken we are not able at this writing to state.

The Juniata, Capt. Breman, is announced for Cincinnati forthwith, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. She is a large and commodious side-wheeler, and was built expressly for this trade, and, therefore should receive the preference over transient boats.

Capt John Eaton, who was well-known to steamboatmen, having been engaged here for many years in supplying steamers with coal, died at his residence in Vanport, Beaver Co., on Monday.

The Monongahela was reported rising rapidly above yesterday, with nine feet at Greensboro.

The Juniata is announced to take her departure for Cincinnati to-day.

Capt. Sanford B. Coulson, who built and commanded several seasons, the champion upper Missouri steamer, Far West, is here on a visit to his friends, as is also Barney Earl, his right hand bower.

—Capt. Miff. Kennedy, a pioneer boatman, and at one time largely interested in the packet lines navigating the Rio Grande River and other steamers in Texas, has retired from steamboating, and is now farming in Texas. His ranche includes thirty-four thousand acres, all fenced in, and well stocked. He originally came from Pittsburgh, where he built several fine steamers.

—Inspectors Young and Wilson licensed the following officers at Middleport, last Monday: Masters, A. J. Branch, Peter Shott, R. R. Hudson, J. W. Black, and D. A. Carrier; Mates, A. Aleshire, D. A. Carrier, and W. McDaniel; 1st Engineers, Samuel B. Rightmire and James Fugate. Pilots from Antiquity to Gallipolis, R. R. Hudson and D. A. Carrier; Pilot from Racine to Cheshire, Peter Shott.

—The St. Louis Republican of Sunday says: From Hersetail Bar the very latest and most reliable information was 4 o'clock last evening, when the Mary E. Poe was aground in the same position as reported yesterday, with ice piling up against her side and about half a mile long. She was working very hard yesterday trying to spar herself around straight with the current.

—The Jennie Howell is nearly high and dry at Ashley's, thirty miles above Helena, and will have to stay there until the next rise. She lies straight, and is in no danger of injury. Her cargo has been nearly all unloaded by the steamer Webster, which went up from Helena to render assistance.

—Robert Speed, for several years past in the employ of Brown & Jones, in Memphis, and well known in river circles in connection with the coal interests, was married in Memphis on last Thursday to Miss Mollie, daughter of R. S. Jones, the cotton merchant.

—On the last up trip of the A. J. White, she picked up a snag near the foot of Presidents Island, which did slight damage to the boat's upper guards and knocked a bale of cotton into the river, which was afterward recovered.

—The Charles Bodmann, bound from St. Louis to New Orleans, has laid up at the bank above Horsetail Bar and refunded passengers their fare.

—The sternwheel steamer Glasgow was sold at Cairo, Saturday, by the United States Marshal, and purchased by Mr. Walker, of Walker & Nellis, of that city, for $2,575.

—The Jessie went on the docks at Middleport last Monday, and was to be inspected Wednesday.

—The Alaska was compelled to pay $10 at Evansville, for the privilege of landing, to purchase stores.

—Capt. Sam. Bryant, formerly of the Argosy, was married Nov. 24th, at Manchester, to Miss Eugenia Stewart.

—The last season of navigation on the Upper Mississippi has been the shortest for years, lasting about 220 days.

—No large risks are taken by St. Louis underwriters between that point and Cairo.

—The cotton on the sunken Little Rock was insured in Memphis and New Orleans.

—The 96 bales of cotton off the sunken St. Marys was sold at Memphis for $57 per bale.

AN ORDINANCE—To provide for the creation of a Street Improvement Sinking Fund.

WHEREAS, The city of Pittsburgh has issued and will hereafter issue bonds for the improvement of Penn avenue and other streets and avenues of the city under the provisions of an act of Assembly approved April 2, 1870, and by a supplement to said act said bonds are required to be made payable in twelve years after date, and the assessments for the payment of the same are payable in ten annual instalments, and by reason thereof a large amount of money will accumulate before the maturity of the bonds to which the same is applicable, and it is desirable that the said money should be safely invested in order to keep it secure, and to enable the city to obtain interest thereon.

Now, therefore, be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburgh, in Select and Common Councils assembled, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That it shall be the duty of the City Controller to open and keep an account with each street or street improved under the provisions of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the improvement of Penn avenue and other avenues and streets of the city of Pittsburgh," approved April 2, 1870, in which said street shall be charged with all bonds issued on account thereof, and all interest which may from time to time accrue thereon, and credited with all moneys received from assessments on said streets.

2. That it shall be the duty of the Controller to open an account to be known as the Street Improvement Sinking Fund, in which shall be entered all sums received from assessments for improvement of any street improved under the provisions of said act, and all moneys raised by temporary loans for the payment of interest upon bonds issued under said act.

§3. That all interest which may accrue upon any bonds issued under the provisions of said act and all temporary loans, and the interest thereon, shall be paid out of said fund, and any interest heretofore paid out of the City Treasury shall be repaid into the same from the moneys in said fund.

4. Whenever there shall be paid into said fund a sum of money exceeding one thousand dollars over and above a sum sufficient to pay six months' interest on the amount of bonds at the time outstanding, it shall be the duty of the City Controller, under direction of the Finance Committee, to purchase bonds of the city of Pittsburgh for the full excess aforesaid, in such manner and upon such terms as said Committee may approve; Provided, that in such purchase a preference shall be given to street improvement bonds, and that the same shall be bought at a price above par and accrued interest.

5. (SECOND SESSION.)

Bill Introduced for Ten New Steam War Vessels—Reason Wanted for the Issue of Legal Tenders—Extravagance in Public Printing.

WASHINGTON, December 3, 1872.

SENATE.

ADJOURNMENT.

After the reading of the journal, Mr. CAMERON moved that the Senate adjourn.

Mr. FENTON asked him to withdraw his motion temporarily.

Mr. CAMERON said he must insist upon his motion.

Mr. FENTON—I appeal to my friend to withdraw his motion. I wish to move that when the Senate adjourns it adjourn to meet on Thursday.

The Vice President ruled Mr. Fenton's motion out of order. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE.

MEMBER SWORN IN.

Mr. Boreman, member elect from Louisiana, was sworn in.

REPEALING STAMP TAX.

Mr. KELLOGG (Conn.) introduced a bill to repeal the stamp tax on bank checks and notes. Referred.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Mr. RANDALL offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to what law authorizes him to make an increased issue of legal tender, as was done in October last, and whether such issue was made in the legal tenders heretofore retired or in new ones, &c. Adopted.

RELIEF OF TENNESSEE.

A bill was introduced by Mr. MAYNARD for the relief of the State of Tennessee. Referred.

PAYMENT OF FEMALE EMPLOYES.

Mr. PERCE asked leave to introduce and put on its passage a bill to regulate the payment of female employes of the Government.

Mr. CONGER objected.

EXCUSED.

Mr. BECK (Ky.) asked to be and was excused from service on the select committee appointed yesterday for the Oakes Ames investigation, on the ground that during the recent canvass he had expressed a decided opinion on the subject.

Mr. COX took the chair as Speaker pro tem, and appointed Mr. Merrick (Md.) to fill the place of Mr. Beck in the committee.

FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

Mr. WOOD offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War for a copy of the report of General Vincent, Assistant Adjutant General, on the condition of the affairs of the Freedmen's Bureau. Adopted.

NEW STEAM WAR VESSELS.

Mr. SCOFIELD (Pa.) from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported a bill to authorize the construction of ten steam vessels of war, and appropriating three millions for that purpose. The vessels are to carry each ten or more guns of large calibre, and the hulls are to be either of iron or wood, as the Secretary of the Navy may determine.

Mr. HALE (Me.) offered an amendment that not less than five of the ten vessels shall be constructed in private yards in the United States under contract.

Mr. RANDALL (Pa.) advocated the amendment, but thought the bill too loosely drawn, and left too much discretion to the Secretary of the Navy.

Mr. SCOFIELD (Pa.) replied to Mr. Randall's strictures, arguing that the more restrictions were placed on the Secretary, the less security there would be to have the work properly done.

Mr. POTTER (N. Y.) asked to what use these vessels were to be applied.

Mr. SCOFIELD replied that they were to be used to keep our squadrons full in the different seas and for the protection of commerce.

Mr. SHELLABARGER (Ohio) gave it as his judgment that a system ought to be initiated which would be harmonious in plan, in idea, and an ultimate consummation. He believed it wise to put upon the seas a class of vessels that would have speed, have size, and have adaptions for the protection of commerce. He thought it wise to guard the limits, specify and qualify the description of the ships to be built.

Mr. SCOFIELD remarked that the ideas expressed by the gentleman from Ohio corresponded with the purpose of the committee.

Mr. COX (N. Y.) suggested a reduction of the number of vessels from ten to five.

Mr. BANKS said that he had introduced this bill at the last session, in anticipation of trouble with Spain, and affairs in the Gulf of Mexico had not improved since then. No one knew what might occur there any day, and it was proper to be prepared for all contingencies.

Mr. POTTER inquired as to the proposed size of these vessels.

Mr. SCOFIELD considered that four hundred or five hundred tons would be large enough. He did not suppose that any of them would exceed one thousand tons.

Mr. Scofield referred to Mr. Banks as having sympathized with the effort to involve the country in war with Spain.

Mr. BANKS denied that he had ever sympathized with such efforts. He had introduced the bill because the Secretary had declared to members of the House that he was afraid events had occurred in the Gulf of Mexico which would require the Government to be prepared to defend their commerce.

Mr. SCOFIELD said he was opposed to Mr. Hale's amendment, because the Navy Department was prepared to construct iron vessels in the navy yards at New York, Boston and Washington.

The morning hour expired, and the bill went over to to-morrow.

PUBLISHING PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

On a motion to print the voluminous document sent in by the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. BROOKS made remarks as to the reckless extravagance in public printing. He said this House was lumbered with public documents which were of no use, and gave notice that he would sell them all at public auction, and turn over the proceeds to the contingent fund of the House.

THE FISHERIES.

On motion, Mr. Banks' bill to carry out the fishery clauses of the Treaty of Washington was made the special order for the second Tuesday in January, and the House adjourned.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE servant girls of Lafayette, Ind., have got up a strike as to hours of labor and wages.

EIGHT hundred thousand children attend school, it is said, in the six New England States.

A MAN at Seneca Falls, N. Y., offers to pay $1 for every cat that is sent him. The railways leading thither are raising their prices.

ACCORDING to trustworthy information, an area of about one thousand square kilometres in the districts of Mantua and Ferrara has been inundated, and the damage is estimated at many millions. Casal Magalore and Ostiglia are still threatened by the floods.

THE Indians are allowed free rides on all freight trains near their homes on the Central Pacific road, the privilege being granted to secure their good-will. They consider themselves to be the only persons entitled to "dead head" rides, and keep a sharp watch for white men who may be trying to evade the payment of fare.

"BOWING and genuflecting" is causing some controversy in English Church circles. The Penny Post thus illustrates the difference between the two: "The difference between bowing and genuflection is illustrated by what is done in the courts of early sovereigns. When any pass before the Queen's chair, they bow to it as a symbol of royalty; but if the Queen be seated in it, they kneel and kiss her hand as an act of homage and loyalty."

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS has revived from the listless inaction of her people, which for a long time gave that region the epithet of "Egypt." Within the last few years railways have been built extensively in this district; and the crops now yield a better return to their producers, owing to the increased facilities for bringing them to market. A large immigration of energetic people from other States has also increased the general activity.

JAMES CHASE, a lumber merchant of Belle River, Ontario, returning home, after two days absence, on the 10th instant, found his second wife with principal household effects missing, and the following card in his mother-in-law's familiar hand tacked against his door: "Mr. Chase—You can't live with Martha any more. You never loved her, nor she you, and she is a going to marry a better man. Don't follow us; if you do you may get in trouble." Chase was in Detroit, two or three days ago, in search of the newlydeparted, but anxious to avoid the mother-in-law.

Amusements.

"Jartine" at the Opera House. A very large audience greeted Miss Marietta Ravel last evening on her second appearance in her new play. She shows herself equal to all the varied characters which she assumes, and her acting is evidently the result of long and patient study. She is a true artist, attending to all the details with the most conscientious minuteness. In the first two acts she takes part in the dialogue, reading in a piquant French accent and an upward intonation delightfully in contrast with the precise elocution, grandiose air and rounded cadences so familiar to play-goers.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—The performances this week are simply immense, and of course attract crowded houses. This afternoon an immense bill has been arranged for the matinee.

THE AMERICAN THEATRE.—Notwithstanding the excitement of the election last evening, this popular theatre was crowded. The additions to the Sheridan and Mack combination, make their performances interesting in the extreme. A matinee will be given this afternoon.

CHARITABLE CONCERT.—We feel great pleasure in stating to the public, that the Ladies Charitable Association of the Homoepathic Hospital, intend giving a concert at Library Hall, on Teusday evening December 10.

The "Pittsburgh Vocal Club" are engaged for the occassion, and we need hardly say our citizens may expect something first class. The members of the Club are all excellent musicians and under their talented leader, will doubtless give an evening of very great pleasure. The proceeds are to be devoted to weak and suffering humanity, and who is there among us who would not help such a cause? The instrumental performances will add greatly to the entertainment and we predict nothing short of a crowded house.

"All's well that ends well" is a motto that is not only indissolubly linked with the name of the myriad minded Shakespeare but is now also associated with the Boston One Price Clothing House, 95 Smithfield and 178 Federal street, Allegheny, because all the goods purchased there prove in the end to be of the best quality, in style, price and durability.

Wanted.—Every person to know that Grove & Bair, in the Central Hotel building, Allegheny City, during the next thirty days offer their large stock of Notions, Toys and Fancy Goods at prices that defy competition.

HOME NEWS.

Home for an Orphan.

The following letter from one of our subscribers fully explains itself:

EDITORS GAZETTE: "I desire a little girl, from ten to twelve years of age, to raise. An Orphan would be preferred. We have no family but one small child. Any information will be gladly received by addressing B. F. Barras, Reynoldsville, Jefferson county, Pa."

A Fresh Stock.

A nice, fresh stock of new goods has just been laid in at the store of Messrs. Boyd & Murray, No. 58 Fifth avenue, which was secured with such advantage that the firm are enabled to put the prices to purchasers at from 15 to 20 per cent lower than any place else in the city. The stock comprises a rich assortment of fine engravings, chromos, steel cuts, paintings, statuettes, mantle ornaments, brackets, &c., suitable for home adornment, combining the useful with the beautiful. Messrs. Boyd & Murray will also provide frames all styles, for pictures, and promptly to order. Give them a call.

Death From Heart Disease.

Coroner West was summoned yesterday morning to hold an inquest upon the body of a man named Jacob Mijer, who died suddenly at his home in the Ninth ward, Allegheny. The man had come home late on Monday night, and gone to bed. Yesterday morning he was found by his wife dead. The deceased had been in the habit of drinking for some time, and the jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease, superinduced by the use of strong drink. The deceased was a native of Germany, and leaves a wife and three children. He was employed in the mill of Messrs. Lewis, Oliver & Phillips.

A Want Supplied.

"Oh, write me a letter from home," is a plaintive appeal to which a response is sometimes difficult, owing to the want of a nice writing desk, with a supply of writing materials. This deficiency can be supplied at the store of Messrs. J. R. Weldin & Co., No. 101 Wood street, where there is now an elegant array of Writing Desks of every style, size, price and quality. Nothing is more suitable for a gift, combining beauty and utility, than a nice writing desk, and nowhere else can such an article be secured to better advantage than at Weldin & Co.'s. The stock is very large, the prices very low, and the goods the very best.

A New Thing Under the Sun.

Pittsburgh is the iron metropolis of the United States. All needful appliances have long existed for handling ore, pig and bloom iron, but none for manipulating old iron, which comes here in large quantitities and in all shapes. Sometimes in ponderous masses which could not be prepared for remelting except at great cost. All this trouble is to be ended now by two sets of heavy rolling mill shears set up by Mr. W. J. Hammond at his yard, corner of Duquesne Way and Eleventh street, where he is preparing for the furnaces large quantities and all kinds of old iron, cutting it up for faggoting and thus raising the value of it for mill uses. We believe these are the only shears of this kind in operation this side of the mountains. They were much needed here and we doubt not the enterprise of Mr. Hammond will be richly rewarded by a liberal patronage.

Fine Jewelry.

Messrs. J. R. Reed & Co., the well known jewelers, 68 Fifth avenue, have just laid in their new stock of goods for the holidays and are now prepared for every patron. The assortment embraces everything in the jewelry line, such as rings, bracelets, pins, lockets, chains, charms, earrings, keys, chain ornaments, &c., in innumerable numbers and wonderful variety. The firm take pleasure in announcing that they have never had a better stock in store and feel confident they can suit the fancy of every patron. The character of the goods kept at this house is a guarantee that anything purchased there will be found of the best quality, while their prices are as reasonable as they can be made consistent with a good article. Our friends who purpose making presents in the jewely, silverware, watch or clock line will find the desired articles at No 68, and we guarantee they will receive satisfaction.

Mortuary Report.

Dr. J. Guy McCandless, Physician to the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the City of Pittsburgh for the week ending December 1st, 1872:

Delirium tremens 1; accident 1; drowning 1; consumption 6; croup 2; dentition 1; disease of heart 1; disease of lungs 1; general dropsy 2; dysentary 1; cartarrhal fever 3; scarlet fever 2; typhoid fever 6; congestive fever 1; gangrene 1; inflammation of lungs 5; inflammation of lungs typhoid 1; inflammation of lungs and pluera 1; inflammation of peritoneum 1; inanition 1; marasmus 2; natural causes 1; old age 1, paralysis 1; premature birth 1; shock 1; unknown 3; whooping cough 1; still births 5. Of the above there were: Under 1 year, 14; 1 to 2, 8; 2 to 5, 7; 5 to 10, 3; 10 to 15, 1; 15 to 20, 5; 20 to 30, 3; 30 to 40, 4; 40 to 50, 4; 50 to 60, 2; 60 to 70, 5; 70 to 80, 1; 80 to 90, 1. Males, 33; females, 23; white 54; colored, 1; total, 55.

First Ward, Allegheny.

The absence of any member of either branch of Councils from the upper portion of the first ward is anomalous. We do not remember a time when it was so before; all will recollect the days of Paulson, Lewis, Irwin, Phillips &c., &c., than whom the Ward never had more capable or more faithful representatives. We understand that there is considerable feeling on the subject among the residents in the upper district—and we would suggest that care be taken at the primary meeting to be held on Saturday next, that one member at least for each branch shall be selected from the upper side of the ward. Some of the best men in the ward and the heaviest tax payers reside there and their wishes in this matter should not be ignored.

The citizens in the upper half of the ward we think can remedy this difficulty themselves if they will give personal attention to it by going to the meeting on Saturday and voting for their choice. If, as we are informed, Mr. Ormsby Phillips has consented to be a candidate, we presume the citizens of the lower as well as of the upper portion of the ward will gladly cooperate in securing his nomination for the Select branch. At any rate let his neighbors and friends do their duty by going to the polls on Saturday.

New and Attactive.

Within a few days past, Messrs. Wattles & Shaeffer, jewelers, have completed the arrangement of their new and elegant headquarters No. 101 Fifth avenue and are now ready for the visits of their patrons. In preparation for the demands of the season they laid upon their shelves an entirely fresh stock of goods, comprising the latest varieties in the jewelry line, and a number of unique designs, which can be had only at their store. The assortment embraces Watches and Chains of every style and prices. Diamond Pins, Ear Rings, Finger Rings, Crosses, Gents' Pins and Studs, Fine Sets of Jewelry, in Stone, Cameo, Turquoise, Pearls, Corals, Amethyst, Topaz, Jet and Gold in great variety, Chain and Band Bracelets, Cable Necklaces, Fine Lockets, Crosses, Sleeve Buttons, Studs, Charms, Children's Necklaces, Armlets, and Rings, Fine Clocks, Bronzes, Opera Glasses, Toilet Sets, Parian Marble Goods, Vases, etc. It is an assortment that we have never seen excelled in the city, and one which the most fastidious patron will have but little difficulty in selecting from. Messrs. Wattles & Shaeffer are practical men in their trade and will guarantee their goods. They merely ask a look at their stock and a comparison of prices,—as they feel satisfied they can offer the best advantages to purchase.

Capture of a gang of Iron Thieves.

The railroads centering in this city, have been the prey for several years past of a gang of thieves, who have been in the habit of hanging around, seeking what they might devour, picking up old iron, brass and anything else that happened to be lying loose or that could be turned to account.

Chief Clark of Allegheny, has been intrusted by the several companies to try and ferret out the parties, with what success will be found below. He secured the arrest of John Winekle, Emerson Kramer,—Fogle, F. Kelterle and T. Taylor. All residing in Allegheny, charged with having been engaged in the "business." Between four and five tons of railroad iron, brass and other castings, were secured which had been purloined from the different companies. Part of the property was found in the junk shop of Martin Gameson, near the site of the old Pearl Mill, Allegheny. Other stuff was found in a place kept by one Wolf, also a junk dealer, on East street. Another lot was traced to the house of Winekler, one of the parties accused, on the Butcher's Run plank road. Some of the iron has the names of the different railroad companies stamped upon it. A good deal of old rail was found to have been cut in uniform lengths. The Chief expects to recover more, and will prefer charges against all the junk dealers implicated, for knowingly receiving stolen property. The Chief is entitled to much credit for his efforts in this case.

ANOTHER PANHANDLE.

A Bridge Breaks Down—Cars Wrecked.

Yesterday afternoon, Bridge No. 33 on the Panhandle a short distance on this side of Steubenville broke down, while a train of freight cars was passing over it. Fortunately the locomotive and head of the train had passed over safely and but three or four of the cars went through. No person was on them at the time and the damage only was in the wrecking of the cars. The other trains on the road were delayed some time by the accident.

MORE ESCAPES.

Growing Contagious—"Rev." Jones and a Companion Escape from the Work House.

The sudden demand for liberty seems to be contagious among those deprived of the precious boon by their own conduct. On Monday two men escaped from the Western Penitentiary, and about five o'clock yesterday morning two men confined in the County Work House at Claremont, succeeded in making their escape from that institution. The two men were the notorious "Rev." E. L. W. Jones, and a young man named Wm. Gates, both of whom are employed in the laundry department. At the hour named the two men went into the laundry as if to commence their days' work. With a heavy iron poker, they succeeded in breaking one of the bars across the window, leaving an opening sufficiently large to afford a means of escape into the yard. They had provided themselves with ropes by means of which they easily succeeded in scaling the wall. Their escape was not discovered until the guard came on duty, which was a few moments later. Scouts were immediately sent in every direction, and the police of both cities notified of their escape. A reward of twenty-five dollars each has been offered for the arrest of the criminals, but as yet no trace of them can be found.

Jones is a notorious character who assumed the role of an Episcopal clergyman, and by representing himself to be a member of a wealthy English family, the heir of large estates, &c., won the confidence of a wealthy widow, and also some twenty thousand dollars of her money. He was committed for three years and had two years yet to serve.

THE CITY ELECTIONS.

The Result of the Voting Yesterday.

HOW THE PEOPLE CHOSE THEIR LOCAL RULERS.

Conclusion of a Day's Work Around the Polls.

THE FULL RETURNS FROM THE VARIOUS DISTRICTS.

The Composition of Council for 1873.

The elections in the city yesterday, passed off generally in an harmonious manner, though in some of the districts the greatest excitement prevailed. There has seldom been a local election in which the voters seemed to act so much upon the idea, that "this was a good year to bolt" and the result was in some instances somewhat peculiar; "scratching" being in order, Republicans and Democrats alike shared in the consequences which were not always pleasant and in many instances resulted in the disappointment of excellent men. The meteorological influences of the day were favorable for a turnout, and the vote generally was an average one for the city election, while in some of the wards close contests brought out an unexpectedly large number. It is needless to enter into details—as the figures below very fully and interestingly tell the story.

FIRST WARD.

This has always been a doubtful district and one in which the chances were pretty evenly divided. The "closeness" of the ward was verified yesterday in the defeat of the Republican candidates for Council, and the success of the Democratic. This was mainly due to the fact that the Democrats were united and the Republicans divided on two tickets. The result of this unfortunate misunderstanding was the loss of the Councilmen to the Republicans—the loss of excellent members who had served the ward well, and men deserving of a re-election, which they would have been honored with but for their differences. How it was done the figures will show.

FOURTH WARD.

[The little dispute in relation to the result of the primaries and the printed "cards" which appeared in reference thereto, gave to the contest in the locality an exciting and interesting character. There were, as is well known, two tickets in the field each claiming to be regular, and by a singular train of circumstances basing their claims on counts made by the Inspectors. Under the circumstances a warm fight was anticipated, and these expectations were not disappointed. The fight was over the Council—and as the result shows the old incumbents of this position were returned by handsome majorities, a pleasant endorsement of the manner in which they have served their constituents. The remainder of the ticket shows some scratching, and will be interesting reading to the voters.]

ELEVENTH WARD.

[The voters of the Eleventh ward have seldom participated in a warmer political fight than that of yesterday. The chief interest centered in the contest for Select Council, and the Democrats having made a "dead set" in Dr. McCandless, the venerable Nestor of Common Council, "went in," as they phrased it "to win" but "the best laid plans o' mice and men aft gang aglee," and the result seems to indicate that the Democrats came out of the fight with a healthy appreciation of this truth. They used every possible exertion and were confident of success even up the hour of closing the polls. Their hopes were considerably elated at noon when the vote showed them slightly in the lead. But the vote changed in the afternoon and when the polls closed a count, showed the following:

SELECT COUNCIL.
A. G. McCandless, R....308
T. Blackmore, D....262

and the whole Republican ticket elected.

The result was anything but satisfactory to the defeated, and the Democrats were not content. They insisted upon a recount, and that was entered into, but up to last reports had not been concluded. The Board left the school house to finish up their work, and thus we are without further figures.

TWELFTH WARD.

For a fine selection of Holiday Goods, go to Grove & Bair's, 148 Federal street, Allegheny.

One of the Attractions.

Fifth avenue has been rightly named the Broadway of Pittsburgh, for the reason that it presents more attractions to the pedestrians, than any other of our thoroughfares. Among the principal of these attractions is the elegant store room of Messrs Urling, Follansbee & Co., Southwest corner of Wood street, where is displayed such a rich assortment of the finest men and boy's goods in the city and where the purchaser has the advantage of the lowest prices and the most stylish durable goods. The house is now filled from first floor to fourth with one of the best assortments of men and boy's goods, for winter wear ever opened in Pittsburgh, and the prices are lower than ever. Drop in.

THE HUMAN KITCHEN AND ITS DUMB WAITERS.

The body is supplied with aliment by vessels which connect the stomach and its auxiliaries with the venous system, and, so to speak, perform the office of dumb waiters in a restaurant. In other words, these media of communication between the animal kitchen and its dependents supply to each member and organ, near or remote, the quantity and kind of sustenance required to keep it going. When the stomach is derelict in its duty, or the dumb waiters inert or obstructed, it is the peculiar province of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters to strengthen and regulate them. Hence its marvelous cures of chronic indigestion, and the emaciation, debility and languor which are generally its concomitants. It is, moreover, a powerful alterative and corrective, and the rapidity with which it checks irregularities of the liver and bowels, and braces and invigorates the nervous system, is a marvel, not only to the general public, but to professional men.
